League To Give Soviet 24 Hours To Withdraw Forces From Finland

By FRANK SAXE

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

GENEVA, Dec. 11—A special League of Nations committee tonight will send an ultimatum to the Soviet Union giving her 24 hours in which to agree to withdraw her troops from Finland and participate in a peaceful discussion of Finnish-Russian problems.

The committee, it was learned, will send its ultimatum as a move designed to re-establish peace between Finland and Russia.

Meanwhile a survey of leading delegates indicated a trend toward condemnation of the Red Army's invasion of Finland as an act of aggression and the organization of feasible materials, moral and legal aid for the Finns.

The League action will depend on the exact form of the appeal by Finland to the assembly, which, now is in session under presidency of Carl J. Hambro of Norway, but it was understood that Britain and French sources were urging that the delegates take a "practical view" of the situation.

SCANDINAVIAN BLOC

British initiative, for instance, was understood to be behind the election of Hambro inasmuch as the Allies are eager to see a United Scandinavian bloc north of Germany.

The Argentine demand for expulsion of Russia will be carefully considered, it was indicated, and there is considerable belief that the Soviet Union will not long remain a member of the League. But the British and French, as well as the Scandinavians, want to avoid isolating Moscow if possible or thrusting her closer to Germany.

Reports persisted that Russia might resign from the League but Soviet delegate Jacob Souritz continued to sit in his Lakeside hotel room and refused to talk. He and other Russians see only an occasional German newspaperman.

There are 10 German reporters accredited to the League press gallery and various other Germans have been reported unable to secure press cards to the gallery when the assembly reconvened at 5 p.m. with [illegible] nations represented. The first

NAZIS START NEW MOVE TO SECURE PEACE

Reports Circulate That Germany Has Taken Action Through Italy

By FREDERICK KU[illegible]

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Dec. 11. — Reports circulated in several European capitals today that Germany had started a new peace move through Italy. The reports are entirely unconfirmed and it seemed that the only authority was "Italian quarters" at Geneva, where the League of Nations assembly was called into session today to consider Finland's appeal against Russian aggression.

Tenuous as were the reports, they caused neutral interest in diplomatic quarters and efforts were made at once to check them in Ber[illegible], Rome and Geneva.

The only really circumstantial [illegible]port of the alleged peace move [illegible] published by the Brussels newspaper Le Soir in a dispatch from its Geneva correspondent.

According to this dispatch, there were reports in Italian quarters [illegible]

Police Conducting "Courtesy" Drive For Jay-Walkers

City police are conducting a campaign to cause observance of the jay-walking section of the traffic by-law by calling jay-walkers back to the curb and warning them, rather than by wholesale issuance of tags, according to a report of Chief Constable A. G. Shute, published Monday by city commissioners.

The chief said that some 50-cent tags were being handed out, but that they would not be given in large numbers unless the present cautioning method failed.

Since November 21, when the 50-cent cafeteria fines were placed in effect, police have issued some 118 tags, of which 112 have been paid, it was learned from H. S. Reynolds, police accountant. The others were issued recently and have not yet been paid.

In other parts of the plant, other workers are busily engaged in testing and retesting equipment turned out by the precision machines.

Parliament Broadcasts Finns' Appeal Made To Whole World

By WEBB MILLER

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

HELSINKI, Dec. 11.—Finland's appeal to the world for aid was broadcast yesterday at a plenary meeting of parliament. Finland asked aid in a struggle "for the defense of our democratic regime, our religion, our homes, which all civilized people hold sacred."

Speaker Vlinoe Hakkila made the broadcast in parliament's name.

"Our position as advance guard of western civilization gives us the right to expect active help from other civiliaztions," he said. "To all these nations the Finnish parliament now sends this appeal."

Finland, which always had tried to live at peace, had been the victim of brutal aggression by Russia without cause, he said, and it had no course but to resist.

"So far we are fighting against an enemy which threatens to invade our soil. But in reality it is a struggle for all that humanity holds most precious.

". . . We believe that the civilized world, which has given us testimony of its great sympathy, will not leave us to fight alone against an enemy more numerous than ourselves."

The broadcast suffered interference which Finns attributed to Russian stations, but it was audible clearly in Finland.

CO-ORDINATION CROP AGENCIES IS UNDERTAKEN

Minister Of Agriculture Announces New Policy For Alberta

Establishment of a new policy to co-ordinate various agencies interested in promoting crop improvement activities in this province, was announced Monday by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture.

Participating organizations include line elevator companies; farmer-owned elevator companies; the Dominion seed branch; the Canadian and provincial seed growers' associations, the University of Alberta and the agriculture department field crops branch.

Mr. Mullen stated that several conferences have been held and a plan has been adopted whereby participating organizations pool resources in a crop improvement plan, which will be administered by the field crops branch of the department.

O. S. Longman, field crops commissioner, will be chairman of the committee, and Frank Foulds of the Dominion seed branch, Calgary, will act as secretary.

Other members of the committee include Dr. K. W. Neatby, U. of A.; L. C. Anderson, Bittern Lake, representing the Canadian Seed Growers; Howard P. Wright, Airdrie, representing the Alberta Seed Growers; W. E. Robertson and E. J. Munson, representing the line elevator companies; Lew Hutchinson and George Edworthy, representing the farmer-owned elevator companies.

Russians Lose 25,000 Men: Die In Snow

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 11. — The newspaper National Tidende reported Finnish troops had bombed Russia's Kiroff railway, connecting Leningrad and Murmansk. The newspaper Politiken in a dispatch from Helsingfors, said Russian losses aggregated 25,000 on the Karelian Isthmus alone, partly because of the inadequacy of the field hospital service. The newspaper said many wounded Red soldiers perished in the snow.

HUGE MARKET AVAILABLE IN SOUTH AMERICA

Canada May Seek Share Of Trade Made Possible To War In Europe

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Experts in the trade and commerce department are working hard collecting all possible information regarding an export market of $257,000,000 per year in South America which the war makes available to all countries now able to ship to this continent. This huge market, owing to the British blockade of Germany's export trade, now awaits exploitation. Germany sold goods to this amount in these countries every year and can do so no longer.

The range of commodities involved is very great and includes: Coal, coke, pharmaceutical products, electrical apparatus, iron goods, auto-

Big Reduction In Quebec Liquor Prices Planned

QUEBEC, Dec. 11.—A general reduction in Quebec Liquor Commission prices, ranging as high as 45 or 50 cents on the "large size bottles," will become effective before Christmas, it was stated today in usually well-informed circles at the Quebec legislature.

These sources said the price reduction would be announced shortly in Montreal by Edouard Tellier, newly-appointed chairman of the commission.

Not Forgotten Fund Soon Spreads Its Christmas Cheer Among Veteran Soldier Hospital Patients

TWO weeks from today is Christmas, the most joyous, gladsome day of the year when friendly feeling and good-will toward all is more manifest than at any other season of the year.

And two weeks from today The Not Forgotten Fund will spread joy and gladness.

Each year The Bulletin opens its columns to receive subscriptions to this fund, which has one object and one only, namely, to provide a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year for those former soldiers of the Canadian and Allied Armies, who are patients in the Military Ward of the University hospital, still suffering from wounds and other disabilities received in action.

For more than 21 years, these boys have suffered tortures from cruel wounds that won't heal. They will appreciate a little remembrance, just to show

Finnish Repel Reds As Invaders Are Held Back For Last 5 Days

By WEBB MILLER

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

HELSINKI, Dec. 11.—Finland, awaiting the outcome of its appeal to the League of Nations for support against Russia, and a broadcast appeal to the civilized world for aid, held back attacking Russian forces in the Karelian Isthmus today for the fifth successive day.

Reports said the Russians continued to attack vigorously on the Taibela river, the outlet of the Vuoksi lake chain to Lake Ladoga. This lake runs through the Mannerheim defense line.

It was apparent that the Russians sought to advance northwestward along the south side of the lake system, and thus cut into the heart of southern Finland.

It was reported that the Russians now were about 25 miles inside Finland on the eastern side of the isthmus, as they had been for days.

An official spokesman said that more than 100 Russians were wounded in a fight north of Lake Ladoga. Four surrendered, the spokesman said. They said that the others did not because they had been advised that the Finns shot all prisoners.

MARTIAL LAW EXTENDED

Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, commander in chief of the armies, yesterday extended martial law to the eastern and northern provinces of Finland. A dispatch from Tallinn, Esthonia, said the Russian navy had mined the entrance to Baltiski across from Finland on the Finnish Gulf, and the waters adjacent.

Another Tallinn dispatch said the Estonian freight steamship Kassa, about 1,000 tons, serving as a mail boat between Tallinn and Helsinki had been attacked and sunk by an unidentiifed submarine in the gulf. Survivors, arriving at Tallinn, were quoted as saying that one member of the crew was missing.

RUSSIA PLANS FRONTAL DRIVE AGAINST FINNS

Moving Up Reserves For Big Push On Famous Mannerheim Line

By NORMAN B. DEUEL

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY IN THE KARELIAN ISTHMUS, Dec. 11.—Russia is moving up reserves for a frontal attack against the Mannerheim line after days of unsuccessful hammering at the Finnish defense, it was reported today.

Finnish artillery has been busy bombarding the Russian lines to impede the movement of men and munitions to the front.

Tentative Russian attacks, with tanks leading infantry, have been beaten off and the Finns seem to be digging in for siege fighting, confident that the Russians cannot break their line.

In the western part of the isthmus, the Russians bombarded the village of Demidov, with its orthodox church tower sticking up as a landmark.

STRONG POSITIONS

The present front, in the west, is about 30 miles east of Vipuri. Positions held by the Finns are strong and at no point have the Russians reached the outermost part of the real defense line.

The western Karelian area is near the Gulf of Finland, whereas

LAPPS ROUND UP REINDEER TO AID FINNS

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 11.—Lapp herdsmen have rounded up 200,000 reindeer and removed them to places of safety as a reserve meat supply of about 8,000,000 pounds for Finnish troops, the newspaper National Tidendes reported today.

The Lapps also have contributed 7,000 fur coats, 12,000 pairs of stockings and thousands of gloves to the Finnish army, the dispatches said. The Lapps also were collecting skis for use by Finnish troops.

One Lapp, to whom the Tidendes' correspondent talked in sub-zero weather, said he believed Finland could hold the Russians for two years "if onl it would get cold."

German Bomber Flees When R.A.F. Planes Approach

LONDON, Dec. 11.—An unidentified airplane, believed to have been a German Heinkel bomber fled today when British fighting planes rose to attack after it was discovered flying at a high altitude over Yorkshire.

This morning fishermen off the southeast coast saw a German bi-motored airplane come out of the clouds, fly over a town, and then turn southeastward over the English channel.

No air-raid alarm was caused by either plane, and no shot was fired.

GROSS CAPITAL DEBT OF CITY IS $26,940,532

Since its incorporation in 1904 the city has borrowed $50,330,299 on capital account, while the present gross capital debt of the city is $26,940,532, according to a report issued Monday by city commissioners and compiled by Comptroller A. A. Campbell. The information was requested by Ald. F. C. Casselman.

In the 35-year period the city has paid a total of $34,393,389 in interest on all its borrowings but has earned $10,866,134 in interest and profit on securities held in the sinking fund, which should be deducted from the total interest payments to show the net amount of interest paid.

At present the gross capital debt of the city is $26,940,532 and of the school boards $3,190,351. The net debt, computed by deducting the amounts held in the sinking funds at the present time, are $22,007,081 for the city and $2,828,371 for the school boards.

Greek Steamer Is Torpedoed By German U-Boat

British United Press

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 11—Dispatches from Trondhkem said today that the Greek steamer Garaufalia, 8,000 tons, had been torpedoed without warning off the Norwegian coast. Of the 25 members of the crew four were killed and four injured.

The Garaufalia was en route to Kirkenaes, Norway, for a cargo of iron ore destined for the Netherlands.

Visits City

SENATOR W. J. HARMER

CALGARY, Dec. 11—Former superintendent of the Alberta Government Telephone system, and from 1911 until called to the Senate on February 5, 1918, Senator W. J. Harmer, making his first visit to the west for some years, is expected to leave here en route to Edmonton over the week-end.

Until joining the Alberta government service, Senator Harmer had been engaged in railroad operations from 1891 when he first came west. He entered the Alberta government service under the late Hon. Arthur Sifton, at the time the latter was premier of Alberta and when Hon. Mr. Sifton went to Ottawa as a member of the Union government in the last war Senator Harmer received his call to the Senate seat. Since his appointment he has made his residence in Ottawa, although a frequent visitor to the west until the last few years. The present visit is the first for some considerable time.

Today's War Analysis

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

British United Press Cable Editor

PROSPECTS of a peaceful solution of the Russian-Finnish war seemed slight today as the League of Nations considered Finland's appeal for protection and conciliation.

Russia's attempted blitzkrieg against Finland has failed in 12 days of bitter fighting. Russia has not used her full force against Finland and Soviet success now would seem to call for a steam roller drive with all the might and resources available.

The success of the Finnish defense so far indicates the war would be a long process which would be costly in men and material. Russia has plenty of men, but the prestige of the Red army is at stake. Its record against tiny Finland so far has heartened those European countries who have feared Russia as a menace to themselves.

Russia hence might be willing to consider proposals for a settlement but on terms which Fin-

Historic Order Issued To British Troops In France Made Public

PHOERNELL IS MADE LEADER SWEDEN ARMY

Veteran Assumes Active Command Of Forces On Sunday

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 11—A 62-year-old veteran of the Swedish army Sunday assumed active command of all the nation's military forces to facilitate direction of reserves called up since the outbreak of war last Sept. 3.

The new commander is Lieut.-General Olof Gerhard Phoernell, previously a "co-ordinator" of the army, navy and air force branches but without power of active command.

In a declaration to the troops General Phoernell said:

"Soldiers: The safety of the country is founded in the first line of your loyalty, your strength of will and your feeling of solidarity for Sweden's defence.

"In the present times, the defence of freedom, of right, of self-determination, and of the fatherland puts everything else in the background."

To emphasize Sweden's determination to make every effort to maintain neutrality, it was announced that the frontier with Finland would not be blacked-out.

Sweden's mine fields were extended to waters off Oregrun, 80 miles north of Stockholm, making it necessary for vessels plying the channel opposite the Aaland Islands into the Gulf of Bothnia to use Swedish pilots.

FINLAND GETS CREDITS FOR U.S. PURCHASES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The granting of a $10,000,000 credit to Finland for the purchase in the United States of "agricultural surpluses and other civilian supplies" was announced Sunday by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, said the action was taken by the R.F.C. and the export-import bank "with the approval of the president" and that "similar credits to Norway were having consideration."

The Finnish credits will be granted to the Finnish-American Trading Corporation, described by the R.F.C. as "an American corporation organized by the Finnish minister with paid in capital stock of $1,000,000 and guaranteed by the Bank of Finland or the Finnish government."

Italian Planes, Pilots, Crews To Aid Finn Forces

GENEVA, Dec. 11—Italian sources here said Italian army pilots and ground crews had accompanied 50 Italian planes to Finland and that Premier Mussolini probably would give the Finns "all aid within reason."

These sources said Il Duce took the same view of the Russian-Finnish conflict that he did of the Spanish civil war.

William F. Cooke, Northern Trader, Dies On Saturday

FORT SMITH, N.W.T., Dec. 11—William F. Cooke, 57, well-known northern trader and veteran of the South African and Great Wars, died here Saturday.

Born in Ottawa, Mr. Smith served in France with the Vancouver Highlanders' regiment. He was in charge of lumber supplies and was mentioned twice in dispatches.

He was a Hudson's Bay Company post manager here and at Fort Norman for a number of years.

German U-Boats Surrender When Supplies Run Out

PARIS, Dec. 11—Rumors circulated here today that three German submarines surrendered to Allied warships during the week-end when the U-boats' provisions ran out.

There was no confirmation in official French naval circles.

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Dec. 11—The text of an historic, stirring document, the order of the day issued to British troops before they went into action against the enemy, was made public today.

The order was shown to the King when he visited the troops in France's Maginot line. The troops came mainly from the North and Midlands of England.

The order follows:

"You have been chosen to go into action as the vanguard of the British army. We shall be in the closest touch with our Allies who have extended us the warmest of welcomes.

GLORIOUS TRADITIONS

"Unless everyone has done his duty since arrival in France this unique honor would not have been conferred upon you. The enemy awaits our arrival with expectancy. The opportunity is yours to maintain and enhance the glorious traditions inscribed in your colors.

"Be vigilant, be cool and fire low. To the last man, to the last round and a bit more. Not only the eyes of your country are upon you but those of our Allies and the whole Empire.

PROUD WATCHWORDS

"With justice on our side the proud watchwords will be: 'On ne passe pas' (they shall not pass) and 'On les aura' (We shall win.")

The King took back to England Sunday a Maginot medal inscribed 'On ne passe pas' presented to him during his visit to the line. Recently Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian minister of mines and resources, and representatives of other dominions were presented with the badge which is worn by all defenders of the Maginot line.

NAZIS START NEW MOVE TO SECURE PEACE

only that Germany had started another move to negotiate peace, but that the French government already had been informed of the move, probably through the Italian government.

The Soir's version was that the alleged German proposals involved considerable concessions to the Allied war aims in exchange for Allied collaboration in halting the spread of Bolshevism in Europe.

According to The Soir, Poland would be restored within its "racial limits," including some areas held by Russia as well as Germany. Germany would keep a corridor through to Danzig. It was asserted, in these rumors, that any negotiations would be based on the restoration of an independent Czecho-Slovakia, except for the German-speaking Sudetenland area which was ceded to Germany at the Munich conference.

AUSTRIAN PLEBISCITE

A plebiscite would be held in Austria—a free plebiscite under international supervision, according to reports. It was said in this connection that Germany was confident Austria would vote to stay in Germany.

As part of a Polish settlement, according to the reports, the White Ruthenian and east Galician areas would be declared independent, in order to form a buffer state in the area where Russia, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary and Rumania would meet.

ZONE OF INFLUENCE

It was said that Italy, under any such agreement, would obtain a Balkan zone of influence and the right to pursue its "aspirations" in the Mediterranean.

There was no immediate official comment on the reports in London. Usually reliable quarters said, however, that the reports caused no surprise here because there had been indications that British quarters had recently anticipated such a move because of the latest international developments.

The British United Press Geneva bureau had reported that Geneva was "overrun" with Germans, Italians and Russians, who were holding private meetings in hotels and talking in "marginal" conferences with some delegates to the assembly.

Reports Of Peace Move Are Denied

British United Press

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—An authorized German source denied today reports of a new German peace move, and said that the reports were regarded as a diplomatic trial balloon.

As to a report that, as part of a peace move, Germany would consent to a plebiscite, the informant said:

"We have already held a plebiscite in Austria. Why hold another? The report that we have offered to sign a pact with Britain and France is merely a resurrection of old rumors."

CIVIL FLYING RULES LISTED FOR DOMINION

Certain Military Areas On Prohibited List For Aircraft

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—Wartime regulations governing the flying of all civil aircraft in Canada are laid down by an order-in-council published last night in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette. The "Defence Air Regulathions, 1939," place complete control of all air movements in the hands of the government, so that its officers will know just what planes are aloft and what their business is.

Prohibited military areas are clearly defined in the regulations, and all civil aircraft must give them a wide berth except those planes flying scheduled air routes and possessing special permission, in which case the aircraft must make identification signals visible to official watchers on the ground and fly at a height not greater than 2,000 feet. Crews of such planes must take an oath of allegiance and an oath of secrecy concerning all they see while flying over such areas.

OBSERVE CERTAIN RULES

International air traffic is restricted to scheduled air lines and planes with special government permission. In any case, International flights may be made only in daylight.

Those civil aircraft permitted to fly in Canada must observe certain rules. For instance, none may carry guns or munitions and nothing explosive in character except signal flares. Radio transmitters on planes must be used sparingly, only for transmission and receiving of messages necessary to navigation and operation of the aircraft, and the messages must not be in code or in any language other than French or English.

No aerial photography may be carried out without the express permission of the government, and no plane may fly at night without permission. Permits of aircraft crews not of British nationality may be suspended by the ministry of transport at its discretion. All aircraft must adhere rigidly to their regular routes or routes mapped out with co-operation of the authorities, and only bad weather may cause a permissible deviation.

NOVA SCOTIA BANNED

Prohibited areas range from narrow areas surrounding military or naval establishments to the "area including the whole of the province of Nova Scotia and the territorial waters adjacent thereto."

BRITAIN READY TO SELL FINNS WAR SUPPLIES

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The British government has given Finland facilities to purchase urgent military supplies in this country, it was learned last night.

Assurances were given of Britain's willingness to give active help to the Finns in their fight against the Russians.

For one thing, Finland will be able to purchase fighter aircraft, which it needs to repel Russian bombing attacks against her cities and defence positions.

The decision to give the Finns access to this country's arms factories came at a time when Finland was addressing an appeal to the world at large that "as the outpost of western civilization our nation possesses the right to expect active help from other civilized nations."

WAR HAS MADE PARIS ALMOST CRIMELESS CITY

PARIS, Dec. 11—The war has made the French capital almost a crimeless city.

Two Officers, 8 Crew Members Lost On Jersey

LONDON, Dec. 11—Two officers and eight members of the crew of the destroyer Jersey, torpedoed by a German submarine last Thursday, still are missing and apparently are dead, the admiralty announced today.

Two officers and 10 sailors were wounded by the explosion, which damaged the 1,690-ton craft.

War Prices Board Works To Prevent All Profiteering

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Through operations of the wartime prices and trade board Canada "will not wear the face of false prosperity" during the war nor will Canadians endure the "severe pains of economic contraction," Hon. Norman McLarty, minister of labor, said in a broadcast address last night.

He described the purpose and some of the achievements of the board set up immediately the war started, under chairmanship of Hector McKinnon, tariff commissioner.

Necessary restrictions were initiated by the board, Mr. McLarty said, so "that at a time when our enemies who have sworn our destruction stand in arms against us, no one within our gates shall be allowed to wax fat on his country's necessity—no one shall be permitted to make greedy gain out of our common need."

The address was one of a series in which ministers of the government are giving accounts of the government's war effort. It was broadcast over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Establishment of the board was for the purpose of ensuring "that when our energies were being exerted in the prosecution of war there would be no profiteering, no hoarding and no undue enhancement of price of the necessaries of life," he said.

The board is empowered to investigate costs, prices and profits; to license any persons who deal in necessaries of life; to fix minimum prices and markups; to regulate the sale and distribution of any commodity; to take possession of any stocks being withheld; to buy and sell goods and to recommend embargoes on exports.

EFFORTS SUCCESSFUL

These powers are subject to approval by order-in-council. Through its efforts the board has so far "successfully checked haording and profiteering, and effectively curbed those who might have been tempted to turn national needs and perils into profits," the minister said.

Mr. McLarty described the steps taken to regulate trade in sugar, wool and coal, each now under strict control.

Immediately after the war started nearly 30,000,000 pounds of sugar were removed from stocks because of a run on that commodity by those fearing price increases.

With co-operation from the industry the board arranged for release of 25 per cent more sugar stocks than the normal September demand at no increase in price and the situation was brought under control.

REMOVE DUMP DUTY

In October the board recommended removal of the dump duty on sugar and this was approved by the government. At that time the British government was negotiating a contract for all sugar production in Empire countries and the Canadian government became a party to the agreement.

The result was Canada has agreed to take approximately 450,000 tons of sugar a year, virtually the normal import requirement, at cost.

This agreement was completed Saturday, Mr. McLarty said, "and we can therefore look forward to a reasonable stabilization of sugar prices during the period of the war."

Similar action was taken with respect to wool; in which the board exercised for the first time its power to fix prices, and in the case of coal, hides and leather.

the eastern part is near Lake Ladoga.

Finnish authorities seemed to believe they had drawn the Russians into favorable defense positions in the western part and could hold them without even withdrawing to their Mannerheim defence lines.

The Finns said they controlled the place and time of any battle, and could stand or retreat to their main line as they chose.

Preparations which I have seen at the front in the west indicate that the Finns expect to make a long stand. Solid artillery emplacements and comfortable quarters for the soldiers do not look temporary.

FAVORABLE FOR FINNS

This particular part of the line—in advance of the Mannerheim line—is strategically favorable for the Finns. It is on a lake half a mile broad. The Russians must either cross it or go around. If they go around, the roads are mined and dominated by artillery. If they elect to cross the lake, they must walk for half a mile under direct fire. Tanks are useless in either case.

The Russians must advance on roads or lakes, because the Finns control the forests through which men can only walk on narrow winding trails among second growth fir trees about 50 feet tall and from three to five inches in diameter, planted from two to three feet apart. The trees grow in an area filled with boulders.

GLAZED STREETS FOLLOW RAINFALL HERE LAST NIGHT

Edmonton temperatures were well above the freezing mark Monday morning following light showers at 5 a.m. which left a light coating of ice over streets. Near northern points reported snow falling over some sections after one to ten-inch falls during the night.

Local forecast is "not much change in temperatures."

Chief Const. A. G. Shute and J. A. McNeil, of the Alberta Motor Association issued appeals Monday morning for motorists to drive carefully in view of icy street conditions. Ten minor traffic accidents were reported over the weekend.

Highest temperature in Edmonton Sunday was 36 above, as compared with 44 on Saturday. Overnight low was 26 above. Temperature at 8:30 this morning was 37.

Aklavik was the far north icebox last night with eight below.

Bennett Rejoices In Two Victories For West Canada

WINNIPEG, Dec. 11.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, today declared he rejoiced at two triumphs for western Canada—the victory of Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian football final, and the return of prosperity, evidenced in the response to the Red Cross appeal. He passed through Winnipeg en route to Calgary on private business.

Mr. Bennett, head of the Canadian Red Cross Society in England where he now lives, said western Canada contributions to the Red Cross was far above official expectations.

land would not be likely to accept.

Russia scarcely would demand less than the Hanko fortifications with Hoagland and other islands, giving her control of the Gulf of Finland and domination of Finland's southern coast; possession of the Karelian isthmus fronting Leningrad and the Petsamo corridor to the Arctic in the far north.

ORIGINAL DEMANDS

Those are essentially Russia's original demands, which caused the Finns to go to war rather than accept. The success of their defense and the heartening help being received from abroad makes it unlikely that the Finns would give up easily what they have so stoutly held.

One Russion plan of attack is to drive across the narrow "waist line" of central Finland to the Gulf of Bothnia. Its success would cut Finland in half.

Finland's main centers to the south would be cut off from the north and from vital rail communications with Sweden. The Russians would be in a position to make good their blockade of the west coast and prevent shipping communications across the gulf to Sweden.

MIGHT SUCCEED

Such a drive might succeed next summer, but is a herculean task now that winter has set in. There is no east-to-west railroad and no highways an army could use. Transport difficulties in winter would make it almost impossible to maintain lines to the rear and bring up supplies to keep an army from perishing in the wilderness.

Such is the situation confronting the delegates of the nations at Geneva. They would like to move for peace, but not at the expense of Finland, whose independence they have been called to protect.

TWO ESCAPED ALIENS STILL ELUDE POLICE

Patrols Of Mounties Are Scouring Foothills For Pair Of Germans

CALGARY, Dec. 11.—Spotlights silhouetted a black shadow slipping through the wire fences surrounding Kananaskis internment camp Saturday evening. It was a cat. It supported the belief no enemy aliens can get through the wire without being seen by guards, since the spotlighting system was completed after escape of two German aliens Thursday evening.

The two aliens were still at large today. Hills and woods around the isolated camp, 65 miles west of Calgary, were being scoured by R.C.M.P. patrols.

Searchers are hoping for a snowfall that would aid them in picking up tracks. The R.C.M.P. dog, "Tuff", followed their tracks for 25 to 30 miles until he was worn out, but the tracks have since become cold.

The fact tracks led in a rough circle indicated the two have become lost in the wooded hills. They may have carried with them chocolate bars and cake, but this food would be insufficient to last them many days.

business was to adopt the agenda.

A committee considering the Finnish appeal unanimously adopted a proposal by Sweden that Russia be asked to accept mediation.

SET TIME LIMIT

Richard Butler, British undersecretary for foreign affairs, said the time limit of 24 hours should be set for reply.

"We must have no illusions on the outcome," Mr. Butler told the committee, which continued its work in belief that Russia would refuse.

A Soviet spokesman at Geneva said, however, that there was a 50-50 chance Moscow would accept.

If such acceptance were forthcoming, Jacob Surits, Russian ambassador to France, could act as Russia's representative without delay since he already is in Geneva to watch League proceeding in which Russia is not participating.

CANADIAN AIR SQUADRON FOR FINLAND, PLAN

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11. — Capt. Donald Kennard of Vancouver, who served with the 52nd squadron of the Royal Air Force in the first Great War and since then has been a commercial pilot, wants to organize a squadron of Canadian pilots to fight for Finland.

Capt. Kennard said the Royal Canadian Air Force rejected him because of a minor eyesight defect which does not affect his flying.

"There are hundreds of men in my position who want to go but can't," Kennard said yesterday, adding he does not think Finnish air officials will be so "fussy about a little thing."

Five Signallers Of British Army Killed In Wreck

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Dec. 11.—Five men were killed yesterday when a lorry filled with British army signallers was wrecked by an express train at a level crossing in the Royal Air Force area. A sixth died later in hospital.

Seven other men were injured—one so gravely he is not expected to survive—in what was the first major accident in which the British forces in France have been involved.

$80,000 Spent On Exhibition Ground Improvements Here

Edmonton Exhibition Association has expended more than $80,000 in permanent improvements to the fair grounds in the past four years, it was stated in a report to city commissioners, issued Monday.

All of this, with the exception of amounts now owing to the city and the bank, have been paid for out of revenue in the corresponding period, the report said.

At present the fair board owes the city $13,351 and owes the bank $11,000.

NEW INVENTION OF INVISIBLE PAINT RECORDED

SPARTANBURG, S.C., Dec. 10. —The Herald-Journal said in a copyrighted story yesterday that a Spartanburg chemist has announced discovery of a substance which, when applied like paint, renders material objects invisible at a distance beyond 100 feet.

The newspaper quoted the chemist, Max Gardner, as saying the substance had been demonstrated on an airplane which was flown above a field near here. No part of the plane could be seen after it reached an altitude of 100 feet, Gardner said.

HUGE MARKET AVAILABLE IN SOUTH AMERICA

mobiles, wrought iron, machinery of all kinds, textiles, leather goods, sheet iron, machine tools, chemical products, steel pipe, locomotives and so on. Information is being gathered as rapidly as possible and will be made available to Canadian manufacturers. The value of the trade is given in Canadian dollars, calculated at the current rate of exchange.

VARIETY OF PRODUCTS

South America has paid for these imports by exporting a variety of products, many of which cannot possibly find a market either in Canada or the United States. Chief among these products are cotton, coffee, corn, wheat, wool, oil, seed, tin, lead, nitrogenous fertilizers, copper, cocoa, tar and petroleum.

It is believed, however, that Canada is better placed, so far as home production goes, to exchange goods with South America than is the United States. But even so, the experts point out that the direct exchange of goods will not govern this trade. The exchanges may be many sided and the main thing is for Canadian exporters to be as energetic as possible in pursuit of these new outlets.

PIANIST DIES AFTER STRIKING FINAL CHORDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—Dr. Wilhelm Grosz, 45, noted composer and pianist, struck the final chords of the opera "Der Rosen-Kavalier" and fell backward dead into the arms of his friends Saturday night.

He was accompanying three of his closest friends—Irene Jessner of the Metropolitan Opera Company and Hansi and Rosi Book—when death took him as he reached the final words—"In God's name"—of the closing trio of the opera.

Dr. Grosz was better known in the United States for his popular compositions—"Isle of Capri", "Red Sails in the Sunset," "Harbor Lights"—although he had been known in Europe as a conductor and composer of dramatic and symphonic works.

He composed music for foreign motion pictures and had signed contract only a few days ago with Warner Brothers. He was born in Vienna.

Argument For Tobacco Appeal Opens In Court

Argument in the appeal brought by 42 manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers against decision of Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing dismissing application to quash charges of operating an alleged "tobacco combine," opened in appeal court Monday before His Honor Chief Justice Horace Harvey, Mr. Justice Frank Ford and Mr. Justice H. W. Lunney.

Argument is being presented by L. A. Forsyth, K.C., Montreal, on behalf of the 42 defendants. Opening session of the hearing was devoted to argument on whether Mr. Justice Ewing had jurisdiction to refer his decision to the appeal court. The argument is proceeding.

Other counsel engaged in the case are A. L. Smith, K.C. and H. W. Wilson, K.C., for the crown, with C. Sinclair, K.C., M[illegible]eal, S. A. Dickson, K.C., and E. Chambers, Calgary, for certain manufacturers, and H. H. Parlee, K.C., for jobbers and wholesalers.

CANADIANS IN CONSISTORY OF POPE PIUS XII

Bishop Breynat Is Appointed Titular Archbishop Of Garella

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 11—Mgr. Alexandre Vachon of Laval University, Quebec, was named bishop coadjutor of Ottawa today at the first consistory of the pontificate of Pope Pius XII.

Mgr. Vachon was given the right of succession and was also named titular Archbishop of Achrida.

Other Canadian appointments were:

Rt. Rev. Gabriel Joseph Elie Breynat, apostolic vicar of Mackenzie River, to be titular Archbishop of Garella.

Mgr. Arthur Douville to be auxiliary bishop of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec.

NO CARDINAL NAMED

No cardinals were named in this consistory. The most important Vatican appointment was that of Lorenzo Cardinal Lauri to be Cardinal Camerlengo. The Cardinal Camerlengo takes charge of all Vatican affairs between the death of the pope and the election of his successor.

Cardinal Lauri is 55 years old and a native of Rome. He became a cardinal in 1926 and was papal legate to the eucharistic congress in Dublin in 1932.

Raffaelo Cardinal Rossi was made Camerlengo of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

13 NEW BISHOPS

The Pope gathered 24 Cardinals in the Consistory to hear his appointments, which included 13 new bishops and to approve canonization of two saints, blessed Maria di Santa Eufrasia Pelletier, who founded the Sisters of Good Shepherd, and Blessed Gemme Galgani, known as the Virgin of Lucca.

The Pontiff also conferred the Pallium, or Woolen Scarf of office, on [illegible] archbishops, including Most Rev. Georges Gauthier, Archbishop of Montreal.

Two of the most important titular sees were filled with appointments of Carlo Cardinal Salotti as Bishop of Palestrina and of Enrico Cardinal Sibilia as Bishop of Sabina, sees formerly occupied by the late Angelo Cardinal Dolci and Donatus Cardinal Sbarretti.

Constant Vigilance Is Rule Of Men Who Guard Canada's Eastern Coast

Following is another of a Canadian Press series on Canada's war effort. This article deals with Canada's east coast defence.

By JACK TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH CANADA'S ATLANTIC COAST DEFENCE, Dec. 11.—Down where the big guns of the coast defence artillery guard Canada's Atlantic shores, constant vigilance is the rule. Men of the Royal Canadian Artillery mount guard night and day to keep the seaways leading into important ports safe from the enemy.

At night batteries of searchlights swing their beams seaward. The scrutiny of passing ships is especially careful for even the vessels of friendly nations might unsuspectingly mask the attempts of enemy submarines to enter port in wartime.

WATCH FOR SUBMARINES

As each ship passes the battery, the searchlights are focussed on its bubbling wake, for a submarine might try to run the gauntlet of the batteries with its periscope hidden in the wash from the ship's propellers.

Should the call for action come, the coast defence artillerymen are ready to handle the big cannon. Night and day there are crews ready for action when the alarm is sounded. Gunners are kept familiar with their work by daily "manning parades" in which they go through the motions of bringing the guns into position and firing them.

But gunnery is more than just aiming and firing a gun. It takes in higher mathematics and split-second timing. Wind direction and velocity, and temperatures have to be taken into account. Even the rise and fall of the tide must be considered.

Consequently, artillerymen must have practical experience to work their batteries effectively. This reporter had a closeup view of a coast defence battery in action during firing practice.

FORMER CITY ATHLETE DIES IN CAR CRASH

Harry Raymond Peterson Killed, Jim Coleman Hurt In Collision

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11.—Harry Raymond Peterson, former University of Alberta Canadian football player, was killed and James Coleman, Vancouver sports columnist, was injured here Saturday night in a collision between two automobiles which also sent two other men to hospital.

Coleman, 28, son of D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and lacerations. Hospital attendants said, however, that head injuries they feared might be serious were found to be trivial.

TWO OTHERS INJURED

The other two men hurt were James Stewart who suffered concussion and a lacerated scalp and Richard Found who was allowed to leave hospital for home after treatment for a lacerated forehead and rib injuries.

Police said a roadster driven by Peterson, in which Coleman and Stewart were riding, was in collision with Found's car at an intersection. Peterson's roadster turned over, pinning his passengers and himself underneath.

Peterson played football for the University of Alberta before he came to Vancouver five or six years ago. He coached the Meraloma team in the Big Four Canadian Football League here for several years, but turned to refereeing when the club dropped from the loop this season.

Coleman has worked on the editorial staffs of the Winnipeg Tribune and Edmonton Bulletin. He is now a member of the Vancouver Daily Province sports staff, his column "Coleman's Corner" appearing almost daily.

Stewart, about 25 years old, was prominent in Vancouver athletic circles, and four or five years ago played quarterback with the Meralomas.

Two Men Killed In Car Accident Near Courtenay

COURTENAY, B.C., Dec. 11—Two men were killed and a woman was injured Sunday when their automobile left the highway seven miles north of here and crashed into a tree stump near the roadside.

Jack Stewart, 50, and Jack Johnson, 48, both of Courtenay, were instantly killed.

Mrs. Jane Canning, sister of Stewart, suffered bruises and shock and was brought to hospital here.

Red Invasion Of Finland Far Less Effective Than Nazi Move Into Poland

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The battle scene in Finland after 12 days of invasion by Soviet Russia is shrouded both by snow and conflicting reports from Moscow and Helsingfors as to the progress Red armies are actually making.

Yet that does not conceal one important fact—that by comparison with Germany's conquest of Poland the million-man-power Red steam roller is far behind time in flattening its 200,000-man-power Finnish opponent.

MADE QUICK WORK

Less than a week after Hitler's armies crashed across the Polish frontier there was not much left of Polish resistance, although Warsaw held out for a few weeks. Nazi shock divisions were being hustled back to bolster the west front within ten days after their dash into Poland.

By common report, Germany used some 300,000 men in that "blitzkrieg" attack, against a total Polish army of about 1,000,000 men. The German forces of course were highly mechanized and well equipped, while the Poles lacked arms. There are no definite figures as to the Russian forces blasting their way into Finland, but Russian propagandists, before the attack, spoke of nearly 1,000,000 regulars along the 800-mile frontier. Opposed to them were between 200,000 and 300,000 Finns.

If it is true that upward of 1,000,000 Russians are having tough going against around 300,000 Finns, what that spells out in military minds is inferiority of Russian Red army leadership and mechanized equipment to their Nazi counterparts. Finnish claims of Red tanks destroyed or bogged down, of Red planes shot down or crashed, of Red infantry mowed down by machine-gun and automatic rifle fire are insistent.

The weather and a highly difficult terrain, studded with water hazards, now iced over, may account in some degree for the slow movement of the Russian forces, but they may not tell all the story.

Strong Southwest Gale Causes Much Damage At Victoria

VICTORIA, Dec. 11—A southwest gale that at times reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour swept up out of the Pacific late yesterday to disrupt communication systems on the southern part of Vancouver Island and cause minor damage to signboards and trees.

High tension wires were blown down on Douglas street and service was halted for three hours until repairs were completed.

The gale was so severe off Victoria that the government patrol boat inspecting incoming craft tied up at a shelter point until the wind abated.

FINN EXPORTS OF WOOD PULP NOW STOPPED

Newsprint Industry Of Holland Worried By Lack Of Imports

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 11.—Finland for the present at least appears to have been eliminated from the wood pulp market of this country, if not from that of other countries as well, a qualified source said yesterday.

No Finnish pulp cargo has entered Dutch ports for some days, and since even before the Soviet-Finnish conflict Germany has been holding wood pulp shipment in her Baltic ports awaiting decisions of wartime tribunals.

Dutch maritime and business circles generally believe the Reich is pursuing the double aim of blocking all exports to Great Britain and France and getting all Baltic seaborne traffic for her own bottoms.

The Reich merchant fleet, they point out, where it is not taking refuge in neutral ports on the Atlantic and Pacific, is concentrated in the Baltic and almost completely inactive. Naturally the intention is to monopolize Baltic trade, and in the case of The Netherlands the safest port for the Germans is Delfzijl, which can be reached from the Kiel canal within protection of the Frisian Islands and naval bases in the area.

Keen anxiety is felt in the Dutch newsprint industry over the lack of Finnish exports. The largest paper manufacturer in The Netherlands, Van Gledern and Company, has seen its wood pulp imports reduced by about three-quarters so far this year in comparison with last year's figures.

QUINTS AGAIN WILL GIVE TO POOR KIDDIES

Last Year Baskets Were Sent To Children Of 63 Families

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 11.—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe announced last night the Dionne Quintuplets will do this Christmas "the same as last Christmas." But he had to be questioned about what the quints did at Christmas, 1938.

He revealed that last year the five little girls sent Christmas baskets, complete with toys, clothing and good things to eat, to the children of 63 poorer families in the Corbeil district around their home. Dr. Dafoe said he never had told about it before because "I didn't think anybody would be interested."

Since the Dionne Quintuplet Act forbids use of quint funds for purposes other than the direct benefit of the five sisters, other means had to be obtained to assemble the hampers.

The quints drew on the great stock of little suits, coats, dresses and toys that come to them each Christmas from all over the continent. Dr. Dafoe and every member of the nursery staff dug down to provide funds for a roast of beef, canned goods, fruits, nuts and fresh vegetables for each of the 63 baskets.

Emile, Yvonne, Marie, Cecile and Annette helped pack the presents and when all was ready the nursery guards, two provincial police officers, used their motorcycle sidecars in lieu of Santa Claus' sleigh.

Eleven Canadians Capture Prizes In Photo Contest

MONTREAL, Que., Dec 11—Eleven Canadian photographers won prizes totalling $495 in the Canadian Rockie Color Photograph contest sponsored by the Canadian Pacific Railway Hotel department. In announcing the winners Saturday J. M. Gibbon, general publicity agent, Canadian Pacific Railway company, spoke of the high standards of the photographs and praised Canadians for the fine pictures they had submitted.

First prize of $250 goes to Alan N. Carscallen, Calgary, who submitted a beautifully colored picture of two girls with Banff Springs hotel in the background. Second prize of $100 was also won by a Calgarian, Miss R. M. Rouse, whose picture of Mt. Assiniboine in winter shows the majestic beauty of the Canadian Rockies. Other Canadian winners were: S. R. Vallance, Calgary, $25 and $5; L. H. Leeacock, Calgary, $20 and $10; Alasdair Fraser, Westmount, Que., $20; W. E. Chantler, Toronto, $15; R. E. Tainton, Edmonton, $15; Allan N. Carscallen, tthree prizes of $5 each; and A. N. Simpson, Calgary, four prizes of $5 each.

King Disregards Danger While Inspecting Troops Along Maginot Line

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Dec. 11—King George left for England Sunday aboard a destroyer amid military ceremonies that contrasted sharply with his secret landing on a fog-draped pier somewhere along the French coast six days ago. He landed at a southern English port.

When he arrived in France, only four women, chance spectators, saw him set foot on French soil. But today French and British soldiers, forming a guard of honor, cheered lustily as the destroyer pulled away. His Majesty acknowledged their cheers with a salute.

HIGH SPOT OF VISIT

On the last day of his visit in France, Saturday, the King, disregarding the danger of German patrol raids, came to the French army zone and inspected British troops who have just taken over a section of the Maginot line.

High spot of his visit in this sector was his inspection of a British observation post, from which German, British and French positions could be seen.

The King, wearing the uniform of a field marshal, arrived in the French zone Saturday morning. After driving to headquarters of the British force in a camouflaged automobile, from which flew the royal standard, he inspected nearby barracks housing various British and French units.

He went through one of the giant Maginot forts in this sector and lunched in another smaller fort. Then, removing his trench coat, despite drizzling rain, he took his place on a makeshift wooden reviewing stand and watched British and French infantry parade.

British decorations were bestowed by the King at this time on two French soldiers for distinguished service. General Marie - Gustave Gamelin, commander of the allied armies, in turn decorated a British flier.

After completing the simple inspection, the King drove to the railroad station and there reviewed three battalions of French "Blue Devils" who has seen action. The King departed from the front zone at nightfall after conferring the Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire on General Alphonse Joseph Georges, commander of French troops on the western front.

Accompanying the King to the observation post overlooking the German lines were his brother, Major-General the Duke of Gloucester, General Gamelin, Viscount Gort, commander in chief of British field forces; and French generals in charge of that sector.

Special guards were on duty all along the King's route.

Aberhart Denies Politics Enter Sunday Broadcasts

CALGARY, Dec. 11. — Premier William Aberhart denied he introduced politics into his Sunday broadcasts, "unless the study of the British coat of arms could be called political," when he spoke at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Aberhart announced it was his last broadcast from Calgary until January 7 for he would be spending Christmas vacation with relatives at Vancouver.

25 Championships Taken By Canadians At Big Chicago Fair

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Canadians salted away 25 championships and 61 first places out of a total of 227 championships and 567 first places in the grain, horse and sheep classes of the fortieth International Exposition which closed an eight-day run here Saturday night.

Victory of James Franceschini, Toronto, in two horse show stake events boosted Ontario's list to 20 championships and 51 firsts. Alberta took three championships and five firsts, British Columbia one and three, and Saskatchewan one and two.

Franceschini's victories were both in $1,000 stake events, open only to horses which had previously competed in at least one other similar event at the Chicago show. His "Vindication," a big, aged brown gelding, won the champion heavy harness stake for horses 14 hands, two inches or over, shown to light two or four-wheeled vehicles. "Highland Cora," his other entry, won the champion harness pony stake for entries other than Shetlands.

Exhibitors crammed $1,000,000 in sales and prize money into their wallets.

"It was the greatest show in the 40-year history of the exposition," said B. H. Heide, general manager.

The estimated total attendance for the eight days set a new high record of 448,000, seven per cent higher than last year.

Evacuated Children Are Preparing For Christmas In Rural England Homes

LONDON, Dec. 11—There will be empty chairs at many a Christmas dinner table in English city homes this year.

Half a million city children removed to the country as a precaution against air raids will remain with their "foster parents" while their parents observe the day in their own homes.

Communal Christmas cheer has been arranged for many of the little transplanted city dwellers awaiting their first wartime Christmas. Some of the children from slum districts will meet Father Christmas for the first time.

War and propaganda themes dominate even the toy scene. Supplies of military toys—tanks, fighting planes and warships—have been quadrupled. Dolls wear uniforms—as nurses, fire fighters, navy, army and air force auxiliaries.

Little Miss Britain also will go in for sewing in a big way. "Anything with a needle and thread is going like wildfire," one toy expert said. "The girls have seen their mothers knitting jumpers and socks for the soldiers and they want to do the same."

There are toys with a story, such as the one showing Prime Minister Chamberlain — with umbrella — at one end of a board base, facing Adolf Hitler. The base slides, the Prime Minister scoots forward, clouts Hitler and then slides back with a smile.

Airplane Reaches North Post With Father Bullaird

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—Bare announcement came over the government wireless Sunday from Chesterfield Inlet on the shores of Hudson Bay that Captain Bill Catton of Canadian Airways had landed there bringing Rev. Joseph A. Bullaird from Repulse Bay.

Radio communication was so poor is could not be learned how serious is the condition of Father Bullaird, French missionary among the Eskimos, who had his hands frozen. Medical treatment awaited the sick priest at Chesterfield Inlet.

Better Do It Now

With just two weeks to go, it will be wise to get on with that job of Christmas shopping; and attend to the other matter of sending in contributions to the funds for extending Christmas cheer to those in hard circumstances and those to whom—as the returned men in the University Hospital—assurances of esteem and remembrance are especially due.

Time passes quickly, and procrastination tempts when the mercury two weeks before Christmas ranges up into near-summer levels. But those who do their buying early will avoid the fuss and flurry and weariness of the belated shopper; and those who give early will thereby enable those in charge of good will funds to make the best possible use and distribution of the means put at their disposal.

Dollars Come Home to Enlist

It is noted at Washington that people in Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Italy and Holland sold substantial amounts of their holdings of United States securities during the month preceding the outbreak of war. Canadian holders liquidated to a total of $5,852,000, more than those of the other five countries put together.

No doubt some Canadians, and others, turned their securities into cash because they thought they might need the money for personal use in the changed and unforeseeable living conditions ahead. But it would be doing less than justice to human nature to suppose there was not also the thought that this capital might be needed in Canada to help war-time production of munitions and supplies.

Canadians who thus liquidated safe investments in the United States and transferred the money to Canada deserve credit for adding to the store available here for reproductive use. The repatriated dollars have been added to the working capital of the nation for its war-time effort. Had war been certain to come, it can be believed the amount thus brought back to do its bit on the industrial front would have been many times larger.

Benito Saw It Coming?

The Fascist Grand Council was called together last week to give something of corporate impressiveness to the. pussy-footing of Signor Mussolini. It was instructed to say, and did, that Italy will remain neutral; that it is still in alliance with Germany but not working on the job; and that whatever happens in the Balkan peninsula is a matter of interest to it.

If this is not very explicit, circumstances and recent events make it sufficiently clear. Herr Hitler is told that, having got himself into a suicidal war, he can get out of it as he may. And Russia that if it intermeddles in Balkan affairs it will have to reckon with Italy. The Grand Councillors must have wondered why they were summoned from their scattered homes to hear what they and everyone else knew well enough.

There is, however, a hint of something new to outsiders in a clause hitched onto the obscure resolution in which Italy's interest in Balkan affairs is stated. This interest, it is said, is "increased" as the result of the conquest and annexation of Albania. Did Mussolini so long ago as last April foresee that Herr Hitler would throw him over for Stalin, and that the latter would use Germany as a shield behind which to invade the Balkans? Was the seizure of Albania intended to give Italy status as a Balkan power, and thereby entitled to make Russian activity there a matter of direct concern to itself?

It May Not Be War, But—

It is getting harder and harder to remember Russia is not making war on Finland and has no intention of doing it. If Molotoff hadn't said so, nobody could suppose the Soviet to be maintaining the attitude of a friendly neighbor toward the little republic.

To the Foreign Commissar it may seem that shooting cannons at people across the border and sending armies and air bombers to lay waste their country are exhibitions of civility, or even kindliness; that seems to be his idea. To those who pay less attention to formalities than facts it appears quite clear that Molotoff and his associates are waging the bloodiest kind of war they know how against the Finns, with no conceivable reason but greed, and without the candor to put a name to their operations.

Even to the innocent Foreign Commissar it must be pretty plain that the Finns are putting up something very much like war against the invading Reds, and making a first class job of it. Moscow's undeclared war, since that seems to be the only term for it, has not been going very well. In fact it hasn't been going at all, to any purpose. Russian troops at the end of a week held a few square miles of snow-covered country, but not the particular piece of country they were sent to grab, and had gained no important port or inland city. And they had paid a price, in blood, equipment and money such as an army of well trained men has seldom paid for nothing to an enemy numbering one-third of its number.

It can hardly be hoped that three million Finns can indefinitely hold their ground against one hundred and eighty million Russians. But they have made a stand that ranks with that of the Belgians in 1914. They have shown the Red army to be a grossly over-rated fighting machine. Had they had equal numbers, Molotoff would be headed for the Urals by this time issuing explanations on the run.

Editorial Notes

The Italian press, under instruction of course, informs the world that Mussolini will want to have a hand in drawing up the peace terms when the war is ended. There is no reason why he shouldn't—if he takes a hand in the fighting. But he is only deluding himself if he thinks either Hitler or the Allies are fighting the war in order to hand him a prize.

An enemy raider sank a 706 ton steamship off the east coat of Africa, which may start a string of profitable reflections in the minds of Mr. Hertzog and Mahatma Gandhi, or may not. The raider is probably an armed merchant vessel that took refuge in some neutral port when the war started, and escaped after the guns were dug out of the hold and mounted—in disregard of the rule laid down by Berlin for Allied trading ships. The captain cannot be a very good Nazi, however, since he seems to have taken care that the crew were not drowned. The chief gain from the exploit will be the satisfaction in having scored one against the warmly detested First Lord of the Admiralty. Sinking a ship of that size is hardly worth the cost.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

WHY THEY BOTH FOUGHT

An illuminative story about war I cull from Stoyan Pribichevich's "World Without End"—the story of Balkan ambitions and the efforts to establish a Danubian Confederation. A valorous and quick-witted Montenegrin mountaineer, captured in battle, is being examined by a pompous officer of Franz Joseph's army. Says he to the prisoner: "Why do you poor Montenegrins fight us?" "For bread," the soldier answered. Then he asked in return: "Why do you rich Austrians fight us poor people?"

"For honor," the officer answers.

"It seems," says the soldier, "that everybody is fighting for what he hasn't got."

One thing M. Pribichevich—son of a former Serb leader who became minister of the interior in post-war Yugoslavia, endured imprisonment and died in exile—makes clear: Herr Hitler is doomed to disappointment if he regards the Balkans as a future granary for the Reich. All told—Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece—the food crop of southeastern Europe, says the author, could satisfy but 20 per cent of Germany's food needs, and under improved conditions could not be made to produce more than 30 per cent.

HITLER TURNS ON HIS HELPER

Dr. Fritz Thyssen, German industrial magnate who helped finance the National Socialist movement, believing it would be a restraining influence against the demands of labor, is the latest of the early Nazis to fly his country, leaving his possessions behind. Dr. Thyssen, head of a great German steel works, member of the German steel trust, a Prussian State Counsellor and member of the Reichstag and the Academy for German Law, was one of the most powerful influences for placing Hitler in the German chancellorship. "Now," as Ole Bill would say, "Look at the b - - - - y mess of things you've made."

His offence, for which he had to fly from the Reich to Switzerland for safety, was that he had opposed the war and the present war policy of Hitler. One of the world's richest men, he is in Switzerland for an "indefinite stay" with his wife and child. His German holdings are being administered by Baron Kurt von Schroeder, Cologne banker and Hitler's foremost financial supporter. Dr. Thyssen can probably kiss his German steel mills and possessions goodbye should Nazism triumph over democracy in the European clash.

The list of American contributors to Hitler's rise to power would bring the blush of shame to many a cheek. It includes nearly every major corporation on this western continent. The suppliant is now a tyrant.

EARLY PICTURE OF DER FUEHRER

An early supporter of Hitler, Otto Strasser, gives a picture of the German fuehrer in his early days of power. It shows him then to have been a mystic, a megalomaniac and a spouter carried away by the power of his own words. Otto Strasser's brother Gregor, you may remember, was one of Hitler's early lieutenants, who was murdered in the Munich blood purge of 1934, instituted by Hitler to get rid of those party members who disagreed from him on policies, or whose growing power he feared. Since his brother's murder, Otto Strasser withdrew from the Nazi party and became leader of the anti-Nazi Black Front in Germany. Naturally Otto Strasser was blamed for the recent attempt on Hitler's life.

From his safe retreat in Paris, Otto Strasser told of his introduction to the Nazi leader by his brother, soon after Hitler became Chancellor. Said he:

"My first conversation with Hitler was also our first argument."

"'Power!' he shrieked. 'We must have power.'

"I replied firmly: 'Before attaining power, we must know what we are going to do with it. Our program is not ready.'

"Hitler turned to my brother, saying, 'Your brother and I are destined to quarrel. We must have power first, and then we will see what we will do with it.'

"I found myself," says Strasser, "face to face with a mystic with a feminine sensibility and subject to hysterical reaction . . . Hitler's secret lies in his receptivity and his discovery of the power of words."

The Munich bomb outrage, says Strasser, was the work of an amateur. "One does not murder so blindly. The hatred I bear for Herr Hitler is the strongest emotion of my life, but it is not blind hatred."

By FRED WILLIAMS

A hundred years ago yesterday (December 10, 1839,) there was quite a flurry in the Upper Canada Assembly, which had been opened by the governor-general designate, Hon. C. E. P. Thomson (later Lord Sydenham) on the 3rd. The Assembly was debating the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, when Hon. G. S. Boulton interrupted proceedings by introducing a bill to disqualify certain persons from being candidates or even voting at elections. This was, of course, aimed at those who had been indicted for alleged participation in the rebellion of 1837 or the border raids of 1838, who had been either tried and acquitted or released without trial, thus being technically restored to their rights as citizens.

Such a proposal naturally provoked protest from the Reformers, one of whose spokesmen was William Hamilton Merritt, M.P. for Haldimand, who had, both as public man and as magistrate, done his best to mitigate the sufferings of those accused of sedition and of restoring them to citizenship. Some of the Tories accused Merritt of being in sympathy with the "rebels" (although he had aided in the suppression of the rebellion) and alleged that there were Hunters' lodges right in St. Catharines, ready to rise when an invasion "planned at Buffalo and Detroit," was ready.

Another Park

British Columbia is to have a new park. Steps are being taken to set aside a large area in East Cariboo, the announced object being to preserve some fine stands of timber there.

The government of the province is to be commended for taking this step. British Columbia has resources that can be enjoyed only through exploitation. She has other resources that are destroyed by exploitation and can only be enjoyed to the full through conservation. Among these are her scenic beauties.

We have already gone much too far in permitting the destruction of beauty spots for the sake of a quick profit. We have cut logs and sold them—sold them once—when, had we conserved them, we might have sold them year after year for centuries.

The new park in Cariboo will be added to other provincial parks. There are already quite a number of them, Garibaldi Park, Tweedsmuir Park, Strathcona Park and Mount Robson Park, to name only the more famous. We have set these parks aside, but we are not doing much to make them accessible or useful, and while they remain inaccessible and so unknown they remain to a certain extent in danger.—Vancouver Province.

The Clock That Struck

Denied information in wartime, how silly may be our misgivings, how harmful our mischief. Take the rumor about the clock told about in the London Times.

An ancient clock in an old town in the west of England stopped at 3 o'clock one afternoon. Not in the living memory of man had that clock stopped before, or had such an augury for good or ill ever been recorded in the annals of the old place, but the stoppage of that clock in that west of England town was announced on the English broadcast from Berlin at 6 o'clock that same evening.

England was deeply stirred at this evidence of the intimacy with which the Higher Command was informed of every little detail, of high or low import, of every happening in Great Britain. This was disturbing, even frightening, as it was whispered from friend to friend, from neighbor to neighbor, from barber to customer.

Only a few details did not click. No German broadcast mentioned the stoppage of any clock in England. The clock mentioned in the West of England town had not stopped all the month. And the town in the West of England in which the clock was said to have stopped hasn't got a clock.

Give a reasonable amount of authoritative information and the readers of the newspapers won't give a hoot about the Germans knowing anything that can scare folk waiting for clocks to strike or not to strike.—Winnipeg Free Press.

England's Great Charter

The Lincoln Cathedral transcript of Magna Carta, the famous document granted by King John at Runnymede to the English barons led by the Archbishop of Canterbury on July 15, 1215, has been deposited in the national library of Congress at Washington, and will be sheltered there for the duration of the war in Europe. This precious relic of the Anglo-Saxon race was on exhibition last summer in the British Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, where it gave a thrill to many thousands of visitors. The British Government did not wish to incur the risk of sending across the Atlantic at this time the best of the four copies of the Great Charter that are extant. Hence, in accordance with instructions from London, the Marquess of Lothian, British Ambassador to the United States, has just transferred to the custody of the Librarian of Congress, Mr. A. MacLeish, a copy of what the historian Hallam described as the keystone of English liberty. This historic document will be safeguarded by this high official at Washington until ocean travel becomes safe enough for the transcript of the Great Charter to be returned to the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln Cathedral.

The fundamental principles of Magna Carta provided the foundation on which Americal liberties have been well and truly built, and in depositing this invaluable copy of the Great Charter at the Capitol at Washington, manifestly a very safe resting place for it has been found. Mr. MacLeish, in agreeing to become its custodian for the time being, very finely expressed the significance of the transfer when he said the action was one "full of meaning for our time.' The transcript will be guarded, we may be sure, with the same jealousy that the people of the United States are ever prepared to exercise in protecting the living body of their own democratic law which has sprung from the "keystone of English liberties."

Pending the final outcome of a conflict which has virtually challenged those liberties, Magna Carta could not have a more fitting shrine than the one it now occupies in a gallery of the national library of Congress right across from the one where its spiritual offspring repose, two other charters of liberty—the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution.—Montreal Gazette.

"AS A MATTER OF FACT"

Little Dockie has taken to interlarding his remarks with the phrase, "As a matter of fact."

The spectacle of a five-year-old, whose knowledge of facts is still meager, appealing ponderously to "a matter of fact," amuses his elders. At the same time it mirrors the habit of grown-ups who blandly assume that much of life is "a matter of fact," whereas there are no facts to bolster their position.

We recall the havoc wrought in the younger generation by their naive assumption that, "as a matter of fact," the old-fashioned virtues, and the teachings of Scripture, are out-moded. Whereas the fact of facts, the truth of truths, is that we must all reckon with God and His laws.

O Lord, make us questers after the truth that will make us free. Deliver us from life's common misconceptions. Amen.

Side Glances

"My wife was the best cake baker in the world until we were able to hire a cook, and now she's afraid to go into her own kitchen."

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

The troubles arising from the colon being irritable or spastic are apparently on the increase, as I receive many requests from my article along this line.

The colon which is "irritable" will often become upset by so simple a thing as the use of too many salads or too many fruits skins as the colon is in that state where it is easily irritated by the cellulose contained in such foods. Nervous tension, over-work, emotional strain and similar situations may also cause a flare-up of the irritable stage.

In the spastic colon, we find a temporary contraction of certain muscular fibres. Such a spasm narrows the colon at the spots where it occurs. The result is tenderness throughout the affected area.

The symptoms seen in the irritable colon or the spastic colon are many and varied. Usually there is some disturbance of the peristaltic action of the colon and instead of the usual rhythmical movements, these become clutching, gripping, or irregular, giving rise to a colicky sensation. The patient may complain of pain and tenderness in one part of the colon, or throughout the colon, or of a diffused tenderness which takes in much of the lower abdomen. During some phases, the bowel movements are loose and watery, causing diarrhea; while in other phases, constipation is observed, with the movements being hard, like little round balls. Digestive difficulties are common.

Patients with colons which are liable to become irritable or spastic are usually of the intelligent type. They may be very nervous, tending to keep going on nervous energy. The patient will usually be found to be living on a high nevrous tension, and the physical expression of that tension takes the form of a tensed colon, which becomes irritable or spastic, or both. Anything which adds to the emotional load being carried by the patient is generally followed by a fresh flare-up of the symptoms. Reducing the mental and emotional load, with the enjoyment of a period of peace and quiet, usually relieves the symptoms to a great extent.

During one of the stages when the colon is acting up, the use of heat over the abdomen, fasting for a few days, as much physical rest as possible, and cleansing of the colon with the enema, will often be productive of good results. In some cases of spastic colitis marked by extreme tenderness and by the secretion of mucus in large amounts, the patient may find that the enema will not work, but this phase is often temporary and if the enema is repeated a little later after heat has been used, it may then prove successful.

My general article on "The Irritable or Spastic Colon" provides suggestions which should prove helpful to those troubled with the symptoms which have been described. You are welcome to send for your copy of the article. Please forward your request to me, enclosing a large, self-addressed envelope. Add a four-cent stamp and the article, together with some dieting suggestions, will be mailed to you.

A limited supply is on hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Just address The Bulletin.

Book Of The Week

(Reviewed by C. A. LYNDON)

It is safe to say that no question is more pertinent to Britons today than the simple one, "How Strong Is Britain?" The man in the street finds his efforts to assess an answer barred by a host of unknown factors beyond his powers of interpretation. His thanks can now be proferred to a well-informed and widely-known German newsman, Count Puckler, who has provided an unbiased picture of present-day Britain in his "How Strong Is Britain?"

Count Puckler writes from a fairly broad acquaintance with the British empire, having served for some years as London correspondent of leading German press houses. What is more, he is credited with being closely associated with the present German foreign minister and ex-ambassador, Von Ribbentrop. One cannot help feeling that the author has assessed the true weight of the empire much more accurately than has his distinguished countryman who is still reported as being skeptical of our ability to wage war.

The author of this volume wrote for German readers, in the hope, we may assume, that his countrymen might have something more than mere fanatical rantings from party hustings upon which to base their decision of war or no war. He has made no effort to discount the power of the British Commonwealth nor to exaggerate it. His one great fear for Britain, that the "staying power" which had won her previous wars might now be ineffective because the first sudden lightning stroke might be the only one, has now lost most of its dread since the lightning stroke did not come before the empire forces could be mobilized.

Herr Puckler does see some inherent weaknesses in the set-up of the empire, but they will appear to the layman as being weaknesses that can be eliminated by a regeneration of that age-old spirit of British initiative and resourcefulness.

ENTRANCE

The weather man is still holding out nothing but summer weather, and the Athabaska river is wide open, as are all the small tributaries. A new road has been opened up between this point and Brule, following the Athabaska valley all the way, while not a first class "car road" it is a great improvement on the old road round by Fish Lakes.

The Red Cross ladies held their monthly meeting at the Davison ranch last week, and all members were on hand.

Four cougar were seen between here and Brule last week, and the bear, both grizzly and black, have not yet "denned up" for the winter.

GOLDFIELDS

Goldfields Miners Believed Afflicted By Dread Silicous

Recent return of X-ray plates taken of the lungs of all underground workers here have placed three miners under suspicion for silicous and they are being sent out for further examination. They are Dan Olstrom and Ivor Monson, former B.C. men, and Bill Bergstein. Silicous is caused from the breathing of air laden with silica dust common in hardrock mines, especially in gold mines. These are the first cases for Saskatchewan. It generally takes from ten to twelve years underground to develop evidences of the trouble.

During the present year Canadian doctors in eastern Canada have developed treatment for this ailment. They discovered that silica dust when dissolved in water formed an acid which attacked lung tissue; they also discovered that aluminum dust would counteract the acid and are now experimenting with aluminum dust treatment.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

Edmontonian To Handle Affairs Of Municipality

T. A. Potts of the Department of Municipal Affairs, Edmonton, has been officially appointed administrator of Lochearn municipality and R. D. McCallum secretary-treasurer. Mr. McCallum has held that office for a number of years.

Members of the Women's Institute held their annual meeting Saturday and elected officers for the coming year. President, Mrs. James Horne; 1st vice-president, Mrs. D. C. Alexander; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Driscoll; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T. Ogden; auditor, Mrs. Schierholtz; 3-year term on the executive, Mrs. Frank Day.

The Ladies' Aid of the Memorial Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting last week and elected officers. President, Mrs. Ernest Ross; 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. Day; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. D. C. Alexander; secretarytreasurer, Mrs. Jacob Jacobson.

LOUGHEED

A large number of Lougheed residents attended the United Farmers of Canada meeting held in the community hall last week when H. B. Boutillier of Hairy Hill and J. GANG CAPTURE IS SOLUTION CATTLE THEFT

OLDS, Dec. 5.—Capture of a gang of three cattle thieves a few days ago by R.C.M.P. brought to a close one of the worst outbreaks of thefts of livestock in this area in years.

The three men, Lawrence Doherty of Red Lodge, Tony Smith of Calgary and Bassano, and Ralph Byers of Kevisville, west of Innisfail, each drew terms of two years less one day when they faced police magistrate J. F. Briegel here on Thursday.

All three pleaded guilty, Doherty and Smith to five charges each of theft of livestock, and Byers to four charges. The sentences were to run concurrently in each case, and will be served in Lethbridge jail.

Investigation by R.C.M.P. officers revealed that the men were driving around in a truck by day, studying the layout of various farms, and stealing the cattle by night.

Wtihin a month, according to reports, twenty-two head of livestock were stolen.

LACOMBE

Mrs. R. L. Ramsay Is Elected Head Of Lacombe Club

Mrs. R. L. Ramsay was elected president of the St. Andrew's Ladies' Guild at the annual meeting held here. Other officers elected included Mrs. David Hay, first vice-president; Mrs. Harry Teare, second vice-president; Mrs. D. McDonald, secretary, and Mrs. F. D. Locke, treasurer.

Lacombe branch of the Women's Institute held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Todd, when the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. J. Kanngiesser; vice-president, Mrs. J. Sherrer; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Ford; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wilter Clark; directors, Mrs. W. Newton, Mrs. T. F. Roberts, Mrs. W. Cranna, Mrs. A. Jenkins and Mrs. H. Campbell

Funeral services were held in St. Cyprian's Church last week for Mrs. John Reeves, 68, who died at her home here after a long illness. Rev. W. E. Herbert and Rev. A. D. Currie of Crossfield officiated at the services. Mrs. Reeves, who came to Canada from England in 1912, is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Frank Mertens of Red Deer, and one son, W. H. Reeves of Penticton, B.C.

ANNUAL MEET TRADE BOARD AT RED DEER

Representatives of Board of Trade organizations in all parts of the province gathered at Red Deer Monday for the annual meeting of the Alberta Board of Trade.

One of the main issues to come up for discussion is expected to be on the regulations of the Canada Wheat Board in respect to wheat marketing. Another question that is likely to share a major portion of the limelight will be on possible action of Alberta Board of Trade units to attract tourist traffic from the United States during the coming year.

Other matters of provincial and national import will be introduced. Delegates will be guests at a banquet in the new Buffalo hotel which will be held following the session.

Good Progress Is Made By Library Report Reveals

Giving Miss J. F. Montgomery, librarian, Department of Extension, University of Alberta, full credit for her invaluable advice in reorganizing the Vegreville Public Library, Mrs. H. S. Hurlburt, convener of the library committee of the Major Fane Chapter, I.O.D.E., which took over the management of the library during the fall of 1938, reports that very favorable progress has been made. Starting with about 1,500 well chosen books which were already in the library, the committee has brought this number up to about 1,800 in the first year's operation.

Circulation for the year is given as 5,196, membership as 204. Members of the committee act as librarians. Extending the library services, a children's story hour, with Mrs. Harold Kennedy and Mrs. Floyd Shaw in charge, is held each Saturday afternoon. Members of the committee are Mrs. L. B. Yule, Mrs. C. G. Strong, Mrs. A. W. Shaw, Mrs. Jas. McRae, Mrs. E. C. Miller and Mrs. H. S. Hurlburt as convener.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

Provincial Roads Engineer Honored At Grande Prairie

On the eve of his retirement as provincial roads engineer for the Peace River country after 28 years of service, A. H. McQuarrie was the guest of honor at a Board of Trade dinner last week. Mayor Lawlor paid high tribute to Mr. McQuarrie for his more than quarter century of work and accomplishment in the development of transportation facilities for this northern empire.

Resident of Grande Prairie for most of that time, he was active in all civic improvements, giving valuable help in securing the enlarged municipal airport as well as recent gravelling projects of the department of public wworks. On behalf of those present, Mr. O. B. Harris, president of the Board of Trade, presented Mr. McQuarrie with a gift. Mr. McQuarrie will move to Edmontotn shortly.

Officers of the Grande Prairie Agricultural Society were re-elected by acclamation as follows at the annual meeting held here: president, George Balmer; vice-pres., L. C. Porteous; secretary, A. Field; directors: F. Cooke, Dr. Akin, W. L. Caldwell, R. Cochranne, E. J. Holtom, W. J. Thomson, H. Conrad, G. C. Swanton, P. U. Clubine, J. E. Thomson.

It was decided to hold the second annual horse sale in Grande Prairie next March. As there was not enough stable accommodation last year, the Society also decided to build a large barn before March. Many buyers from outside are expected to attend this sale.

Sacred Heart Church Members Plan For Boys At Front

When soldiers of the Edmonton Garrison go overseas and spend long nights in the forward area, they will receive communications from thoughtful persons "back home." This was assured Sunday when names and units of Roman Catholic soldiers of the Garrison attending church parade and a special post-mass breakfast, were taken by workers at Sacred Heart church.

The Roman Catholic soldiers of the Garrison paraded, as usual to Sacred Heart for devotional service, under Capt. Father Joseph Malone, padre of No. 4 Casualty Clearing Station.

Following mass, a breakfast was held in the basement of the church—to which the soldiers were invited. Ladies of the senior and junior women's auxiliaries provided the food.

Father Malone was master of ceremonies.

DEVOTIONS

His Grace Most Rev. J. H. MacDonald of the Roman Catholic diocese of Edmonton and Lieut. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Garrison Commandant, were speakers. His Grace urged the soldiers, when they go overseas, to continue devotional exercises and to maintain their spiritual welfare and development.

Col. Brown thanked the ladies for their interest in the troops. He asked them to follow-up their kindness when the boys go away by writing to them and thus cheering up lonely hours in billets, dug-outs, trenches or listening posts.

Names and units of the boys were then taken and a promise given that letters would be written to them.

Maj. Philip Debney, V.D., officer commanding the 9th Army Troops Company, Royal Canadian Engineers and Mrs. Debney entertained officers of the Edmonton Garrison and former 49th Battalion (Edmonton Regiment) officers at tea at the Macdonald hotel Sunday afternoon. Maj. Debney is a former officer commanding the Edmonton Regiment, the perpetuating unit in the non-permanent active militia of the 49th Battalion.

REGIMENT ENTERTAINED

Sunday afternoon Matt Gibbons, an original member of the 49th Battalion band in the Great War and leader of the Canadian Corps Association band, entertained members of the Edmonton Regiment, C.A.S.F. band, at his home. Headed by Band-Sergeant Stanley Sheddon of the Edmonton Regiment, the boys talked over many experiences both in the army and as musicians.

Announcement was made Monday of a gift of $50 worth of sports equipment to the Edmonton Regiment by the Sir Wilfrid Laurier Chapter, I.O.D.E., of which Mrs. H. Pinsky is regent and Mrs. Gordon Williamson, war convener.

Officers of the Edmonton Regiment, 9th A.T.C., and No. 4, C.C.S., were recently entertained at tea by His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen.

Mountain House Farmer's House Is Destroyed By Fire

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Dec. 11.—The farm home and all its contents owned by Vernon Cooper, 15 miles south of town, was totally destroyed by fire last week. There was a high wind and the fire caught around the chimney on the outside. The whole roof was blazing when the fire was discovered by Mrs. Copper who was alone in the house with her three young children. Mr. Cooper who was alone in the house had barely time to get the three children out of the house before the whole place blazed up.

Not a thing was saved, except the house clothes they were wearing. Winter vegetables and fruit in the cellar were lost when the burning building crashed down. Neighbors did not see the fire until it was too late, but within two hours, plans were afoot to have a "bee" and build a two-room log house at once. They expect to have it up within a week and in the meantime, the Coopers are living with neighbors.

Jury Alleges Mishap Caused By Negligence

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CASTOR, Dec. 11.—After an all day hearing on Friday the inquest into the death of Bill Ferguson, who was killed by a dirt slide at the strip mine owned by Joe Haden, of Castor, came to an end after the jury had made a visit to the strip mine in the afternoon.

After about two hours deliberation, the jury brought in a verdict of accidental death through alleged negligence of Mr. Haden, owner of the strip mine.

WILDWOOD

The Girl Guide patrol, under Miss Mary Kutyn of Wildwood, entertained the Girl Guide patrol of Miss Mariaangela Auberts of Wildwood at a party in the Wildwood community hall during this week. A very enjoyable time was had and cheers were given for Captain Mrs. R. Johnston, Lieut. Miss E. E. Watt as the patrol leaders.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Gates of Wildwood. Mother and baby are resting well.

Mrs. E. Benesh of Wildwood has been visiting at Edmonton.

D. McAuly of Vancouver, B.C., has been visiting at Wildwood.

Premier Aberhart, Fallow To Attend Vermilion Meet

Premier William Aberhart will attend the annual convention of the Vermilion Social Credit Constituency Association, to be held at Orange hall, Manville, at 2 p.m. on Thursday next. Announcement to the effect was made Sunday evening by Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, in an address before the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference at the Strand theatre.

Mr. Manning announced suspension of conference meetings for three weeks over the Christmas and New Year's season. The conference will meet at the Strand theatre as usual next Sunday, with Premier Aberhart speaking. Its next meeting will be Sunday, Jan. 7.

Mr. Manning also announced that Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, would attend the convention with the premier.

Mr. Manning also announced that the provincial convention of the Women's Social Credit Auxiliary would be held at the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

In his service, Mr. Manning continued his study of the Wandering Jew, dealing with God's promise made to Israel to restore him to Palestine. The subject-matter of his address, he said, could be found in Chapter 30 of Deuteronomy.

Continuing his studies of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, Mr. Manning dealt with the third rider, namely, that on the black horse, or Famine.

Assisting at the service were Orvis A. Kennedy, M.P. for East Edmonton; Earl Davison, Gordon Geldart, Syd. Williams, and others.

HARMONY WILL COME BY GOD PASTOR SAYS

As among congregations, so among the nations and races of the world—like-mindedness, unity, harmony and peace can be achieved only through the aid of God, declared Rev. H. J. Boettcher, addressing the congregation of Grace Lutheran church Sunday morning.

"Man can attain nothing without the aid of Jesus Christ," he said, "and while man is anxious to work out his own salvation, with fear and trembling, and anxious to prove himself a good and faithful steward, he can do none of these things without the aid of God."

Speaking at First Presbyterian church, Rev. Ross K. Cameron chose for his Sunday evening sermon the "Great Certainty in a Time of Uncertainty."

At Metropolitan United church the Sunday evening service was conducted by the Church Men's Club. A. E. Ottewell, Registrar of the University of Alberta and chairman of the Edmonton Public School Board, spoke on "The Eternal Why."

At McDougall United church Mrs. A. D. Miller, president of the Young Women's Christian Association in Edmonton, spoke on "Is the Program of Jesus Possible in This World?"

Gerry Hutchinson, a survivor of the Athenia disaster, addressed the Young People's meeting after the service at McDougall United church.

East Couple Die From Gas Fumes

BRANTFORD, Ont., Dec. 11—Doctors worked Sunday to save the life of Reuben McBride, 34, gravely ill from gas fumes which on Saturday took the lives of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McBride, both 74. A defective gas heater was blamed.

RIMBEY

Mr. S. F. Leech has arrived in Rimbey from Vegreville. He will relieve on the staff of the Bank of Montreal for three weeks, during the absence of the accountant, P. L. Smith who, with Mrs. Smith, is on holidays.

Because of delayed threshing in this district, taxes have been slow in coming in to the Blindman municipal office this year. Councillors report that payments are approximately $8,000 behind that of last year at this date.

LACOMBE

More than 1,000 children and 200 grown-ups lined the main streets of Lacombe on Saturday afternoon to witness the arrival of Santa Claus from the Far North. Santa was met at the town limit by Mayor Thomas Wilkes and officials of the board and transferred to a decorated float at the end of a long parade led by the Spruceville band. Other floats in the parade included that of the Lions' club and the Junior Red Cross float.

VEGREVILLE

Holding their annual pre-Christmas tea, sale of home cooking and bazaar Saturday, the ladies of the Presbyterian church report a very successful day. Conveners for the occasion were: fancy work, Mrs. J. S. Reid and Mrs. W. Marshall; sale of home cooking, Mrs. C. Schneider and Mrs. Robt. Fairbairn; tea, Mrs. W. E. Fleet. Miss Ruby Walker, deaconess of the church, was convener of the reception committee

GWYNNE

There has been quite an influx of land seekers to this district recently. The disappearance of snow and continuance of mild weather has made a thorough inspection possible. The Fred Gray farm, situated three miles east of the village, has been purchased by Mr James of Alliance, who will take possession in the spring.

Janet Cumming Marries On Saturday

Interest of many friends was centred in the pretty ceremony performed on Saturday evening when Janet Brown Cumming, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cumming of Edmonton became the bride of Frank Joseph Bore, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bore, also of Edmonton. The ceremony was performed in Eastwood Hall with Dr. F. D. Roxburgh officiating.

Background of fresh green fern, pink and white streamers from a wedding bell suspended from the ceiling made an attractive setting for the wedding.

Wearing an afternoon length frock of fuchsia silk crepe with matching turban and accessories of black, the bride was a dainty figure. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

BRIDESMAID

Miss Irene Hill was bridesmaid and wore for the occasion a frock of moss green crepe with hat to match and black accessories. Her flowers were talisman roses worn en corsage.

Mrs. Cumming wore for her daughter's marriage a smart ensemble of black and white silk crepe, with black hat and corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Bore, the bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of rust colored silk crepe. Her hat matched her ensemble and she wore pink carnations in her corsage.

Mr. Fred Weber was best man, and during the signing of the register, Miss Violet Cumming, sister of the bride sang "The Day of Golden Promise." Miss Helen Macgregor accompanied her and played the wedding marches.

60 WEDDING GUESTS

Sixty guests present for the ceremony extended their best wishes to the bride and bridegroom at the reception arranged just after the ceremony. The bride's table was laid in white and centred with the tiered wedding cake, flanked by individual vases of silver flowers. Dr. Roxburgh proposed the toast to the bride and Mr. Weber to the bridesmaid.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. James Cumming and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rollason of Winnipeg and Mr. R. W. Duff of Lac La Biche.

Mr. and Mrs. Bore making their home in the city.

Miss Pearl Alton was hostess to members of the Lady Rodney club recently when Lady Rodney was present and presided during the evening. Winner of a draw at which Lady Rodney officiated, was Miss H. Hobson, 24 Jasper Block. Other members of the club present were Mrs. Beatrice Barnett, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. G. Downes, Mrs. F. Hawker, Mrs. R. Horn, Mrs. James Macdonald, Mrs. Gordon Morris, Mrs. G. Millard, Mrs. G. Oake, the Misses Laura Joslin, Harriet Smith, Agnes Smith, Gertrude Allen, Isabel Bond, D. Campbell, Bette Macdonald, Edith MacDonald and Helen Timothy.

Limerick King Dead

HYTHE, England, Dec. 11. — George Springfield, widely-known on London's Fleet Street for creating the "last-line-of-a-limerick" fad that swept British newspapers in 1910, is dead at 78.

Madge Cardell Is Bride Of Saturday

CHRIST Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at the hour of four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Madge Marion Cardell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville A. Cardell, became the bride of Mr. Thomas Boyd "Darby" Nash, son of Mrs. Louise A. Nash of Ottawa.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. P. Gower.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of periwinkle blue crepe with a pointed neckline, and shirred sleeves of elbow length. The skirt was made with bustle effect. Her accessories were of silver and her rolled turban of periwinkle blue and she carried in her bouquet Chieftan roses in a dark red tone.

BRIDESMAID

Miss Bernice Smith, bridesmaid, wore a toe-length gown of crepe in a deep claret shade. The bodice of her gown was shirred, with a pointed neckline, and the sleeves were made shirred and three-quarter length. The gown featured a girdle of gold. Her turban was of deep claret, and her accessories gold. Her bouquet was of yellow Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Howard Douglas supported the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Cardell, mother of the bride, chose a floor length gown of black crepe, with a wide gold belt. The bodice of the gown was shirred, and the skirt was made on simple lines. She wore a matching black hat and a corsage of talisman roses.

ROYAL BLUE GOWN

Mrs. Louise A. Nash, of Ottawa, mother of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length gown of royal blue, with a matching jacket which was buttoned from throat to waist, and embroidered with gold sequins. Her rolled turban was of royal blue crepe. She wore a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with about forty guests present. Chrysanthemums in autumn tones graced the reception rooms, and the bride's table centred with a two-tier wedding cake was lighted by the flame from white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash left for Calgary by motor. Later they will make their home in Edmonton.

For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Nash chose a smart black tailleur with contrasting blouse in a cherry rose tone. Her topcoat was of black, trimmed with persian lamb and she wore a tiny black pill-box hat.

Flowers Will Enhance Christmas Spirit As Gifts And Decorations For The Home

WHETHER your Christmas will include a large family circle or just "stockings for two", fresh flowers and gay arrangements of Christmas greens are basic—and easily achieved—essentials of the festive holiday season.

The old favorites—wreaths in the windows, a sprig of mistletoe over the doorway, and the tree itself—are still firsts on the list of Christmas decorations.

Even if you don't plan to hang up stockings, the fireplace should be a dramatic spot in the living room. For an arrangement with religious significance, consider one of the low Madonna vases, filled with deep red roses or gladioli and white carnations or lilies and surrounded by pine boughs or other greens. A Santa Claus, posed beside a miniature sled filled with marigolds, sweet peas, begonias and lilies-of-the-valley, is another mantle shelf favorite.

The table in the foyer is the logical place for one display. Tall red candles in a shallow, informally arranged bank of pine boughs is simple yet effective. A table between two windows or a temporary coffee table placed between the fireside chairs, may hold a vase of flowers with the base surrounded by greens. Or a bowl of holly, flanked by tall candles in evergreen-covered holders.

The handsomest display of all will be in the centre of the dining room table, of course. The new lily-shaped candles, floating in a crystal bowl, might be a smart nucleus for a long graceful centrepiece of greens with the cones attached. Or consider five or six chubby little angels—each holding a small red candle—on a round mirror with greens or fresh flowers around the mirror.

Deep scarlet poinsettias are favorites among Christmas plants. Cyclamen, Jerusalem cherries and heather plants are fine to have and fine to send as gifts, too.

An ideal Christmas gift for any woman on your shopping list would be a plant covered with buds and blossoms which she can pick and wear. And, of course, it would be a lovely adjunct to such lovely home decorations as the evergreen-garlanded mirror.

The Truth About Vitamins Forms Basis Of Lecture To University Club

What you may believe about vitamins and what you are not to believe formed one of the most interesting and instructive lectures, which has yet entertained Women's University Club members at their Saturday afternoon meetings. Dr. L. B. Pett, Department of Biochemistry, University of Alberta, was the speaker at their meeting in the Arts building on Saturday and brought to the attention of his audience the vital importance of vitamins in the diet but warned against extravagant claims made for them. He said it was unforunately necessary to encourage skepticism in the public even before they have been educated as to the value of vitamins. Dr. Pett outlined what a vitamin is and what vitamins are likely to be deficient in the diet. Of the many varieties only four are essential, he said, these being vitamins A, B, C and D.

Dr. Pett stated that vitamins are very real things, like salt and sugar and lack of them in the diet will cause serious diseases. He mentioned a number of foods, such as brown bread, carrots, cheese, eggs, liver, molasses, peppers, potatoes and fruits, which should be stressed in the diet.

Mrs. Edgar Stansfield presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Following the meeting members joined the Handicraft Guild for tea in the Senate chamber.

Flowers Form Setting For Wedding

BASKETS of golden yellow chrysanthemums against the green of ferns and palms made a lovely background in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Davidson on Saturday evening for the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Irene Mary Davidson to Douglas Gordon Fraser, son of Mrs. Fraser and the late Mr. Dan Fraser, also of this city.

Solemnized at the formal hour of nine o'clock the marriage service was read by Rev. J. W. Smith. Mr. Redge Conrad played the wedding marches.

WHITE SATIN GOWN

Wearing a graceful model gown in gleaming white satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Skirt of her frock was made on flaring lines with bustle at the back while the bodice was fitted and the sleeves full at the top and tapered to a point over the wrist. She wore a chapel veil, caught in clusters of lilies of the valley in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses and valley lilies.

Attending her sister, Miss Bell Davidson chose a pretty frock in tea rose taffeta, fashioned with full skirt, bustle style, fitted bodice and short puffed sleeves. She wore a blue feather in her hair and streamers in blue fell from the neckline of her gown in the back to the floor. She carried pink carnations in her bouquet.

Mrs. Davidson, mother of the bride, was smart in a hostess gown in pale blue lace over satin. Her frock had a jacket and she wore en corsage pink roses. Little Miss Shirley Davidson, sister of the bride, was charming in sunshine yellow taffeta with mauve ribbons in her hair and as trimming on her frock.

Mrs. Foster, mother of the bridegroom, chose a becoming hostess gown in black and wore red roses in her corsage. Miss Rena Fraser, sister of the bridegroom, wore black velvet, with gardenias in corsage.

Mr. Donald Shamper supported the bridegroom as best man.

Reception to about sixty guests followed the ceremony. Centred with a three-tiered wedding cake embedded in violets and rosebuds, the bride's table was laid in ecru lace. Tall white tapers flanked the wedding cake.

Mr. Rod Morrison proposed a toast to the bride.

Later in the evening Mrs. Fraser changed to a modish frock in teal blue, with trimmed model hat in wine, trimmed in wine ostrich plumes. Her other accessories were also in wine and she wore a muskrat topcoat.

Mr. Fraser and his bride will take up residence in Edmonton.

Handicraft Guild Tea Proves To Be Delightful Affair On Saturday Afternoon

TEA GUESTS who called at the Senate Chamber of the University of Alberta on Saturday afternoon had the pleasure of seeing many lovely displays of handicraft, arranged by members of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Handicraft Guild, who were hostesses. The chamber proved to be a treasure spot for Christmas gift shoppers, who found among the varied exhibits of needlework, basketry and novelties "just what they had been looking for".

Mrs. J. Boyd McBride, president of the guild, received at the tea party. Approximately 200 guests called during the afternoon, including members of the Women's University club. Mrs. John W. Fry, wife of His Worship Mayor Fry was also a guest.

SUDETEN DISPLAY

One of the most interesting displays claiming the attention of guests was that from the Sudeten settlement in the Peace River district, which showed clever artistry in the delicate fineness of the lace, knitted articles, novelties and basketry. Another display of baskets were made by Indians in the interior of B.C. from the roots of trees.

A Japanese exhibit loaned by Miss Betty Cooper was of especial interest to guests, with many precious and colorful treasures included in the display. A Japanese vase containing a lovely floral arrangement was loaned by Mrs. E. P. Wellwood. Ukrainian embroidery display from Saskatchewan was also of interest.

Scarlet and white carnations graced the attractively laid tea table, which was lit by the flame from tall green tapers. Presiding at the tea urns were: Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, Mrs. Edgar Stansfield, Mrs. Edward Underwood, Mrs. Donald Cameron, Miss Jessie Montgomery and Mrs. R. J. Russell.

IN CHARGE

In charge of the tea room were Mrs. George D. Hunt, Mrs. J. O. Stein, Mrs. J. J. Anderson and Mrs. William Inglis.

Assisting in passing tea to the guests were Mrs. J. R. Scott, Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Mrs. Hugh H. Nash, Mrs. G. J. Hope, Mrs. Clayton Jackson, Mrs. Ancus Douglas and Mrs. Charles A. Brine, Mrs. R. G. Watson, Mrs. R. L. Ghiselin, Mrs. F. B. MacMahon, Mrs. Victor Wright, Mrs. Raitt, Mrs. A. E. Ottewell, Mrs. Israel, Mrs. Perren E. Baker, Mrs. J. Ivan MacKay, Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. S. Shoemaker and Mrs. Shaw.

In charge of displays were: Sudeten work, Mrs. H. W. Hewetson, Mrs. Frederick Jamieson and Mrs. R. P. Malone; baskets and pottery, Mrs. J. K. Hill and Mrs. F. J. Folinsbee; Japanese, Mrs. G. W. Fish, Miss Sybil Primrose and Miss Betty Cooper; linens, Mrs. George J. Keltie, Mrs. E. E. Poole and Mrs. Arnold Taylor; leather and parchments, Miss Isabel Driscoll, Mrs. R. J. Hoar, Mrs. Kinch, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Parker; leather novelties, Mrs. A. R. MacKay and Mrs. W. Grant McConachie.

NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

Your child's coughing at night—caused by throat "tickle" or irritation, mouth breathing, or a cold—can often be prevented by rubbing his throat and chest with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. VapoRub's swift poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, clears air passages, tends to stop mouth breathing. This helps him relax into healing sleep. VICKS VAPORUB

What To Do

When a girl has an engagement with a fellow and he has said he will call for her at a certain time, which is the correct thing—to keep him waiting or should she be all ready when he comes? LILLIAN.

Answer—Courtesy and consideration for others demand that we keep our business and social appointments promptly. Always try to be ready at the time agreed upon by you and your escort. You need not have your hat and coat on ready to dash away the moment the young man arrives. But you should be on hand to greet him and if he has never met your parents, take this opportunity to introduce him. There'll be time for only a few remarks while you are putting on your coat, say good-by to your family and be on your way. This is a much better start for a happy evening than keeping the fellow waiting for half an hour or longer and making father entertain him when he would much rather be reading the newspaper.

Goiter is a disease of the thyroid gland. Salt manufacturers add a small quantity of iodine to their finished product and thus aid in preventing the disease, especially in mountainous regions.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Make Meals Simpler As Christmas Nears

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

During the holiday rush, stop for a simple luncheon. Try these recipes for plain food with interest.

VEGETABLE CHOWDER

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 small onion, 2 cups chopped vegetables, 1 cup water, 3 cups milk, salt and pepper.

Heat the fat and cook the chopped onion in it until lightly browned. Add the vegetables and water and simmer until the vegetables are tender. Add the milk which has been scalded, and season to taste with salt and pepper. The vegetables may include potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips, celery, peas, string beans, lima beans and tomatoes. Left-over cooked vegetables may be used.

SCALLOPED TOMATOES AND CHEESE

Serves 4 to 6)

One No. 2 can of tomatoes, 3 cups soft breadcrumbs, 2 cups grated cheese, salt, pepper and sugar.

Season the tomatoes with salt, pepper and a little sugar. Arrange alternate layers of tomatoes, breadcrumbs and cheese in a buttered dish. Dot the top with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven for about ½ hour.

ONION SOUP

Serves 4 to 6)

One and one-half quarts meat broth, 6 medium sized onions, ¼ cup butter, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to taste, toast, grated parmesan cheese.

Slice the onions thin and brown them carefully in the butter. Add the broth, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper and simmer until the onions are tender. Pour the soup into an earthenware tureen or into an ovenproof casserole. Arrange on the top slices of toast or French rolls which have been split and toasted. Sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese and place under the broiler until the cheese melts and browns.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas in orange juice, buckwheat griddle cakes, syrup, Canadian bacon, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Vegetable chowder, toasted split rolls, bacon curls, apple sauce, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled chopped steak, lemon and butter, mashed potatoes, scalloped tomatoes and cheese, hearts of lettuce, pecan tarts, coffee, milk.

Minute Make-Ups

DESIGN No. 720—DOG DESIGNS

Here are two fine designs that I know will find immediate favor in any household. There is a friendly "realness" about them that is going to appeal particularly to the masculine taste, so if you are looking for a couple of cushions for the den or recreation room, here is just the thing. Personally, I would like to have them in every room in the house. Besides the two large designs shown, the pattern also includes eight small dogs that would be ideal for matching scarf ends to your cushions.

The pattern includes transfer sheet of designs, together with material requirements, stitch details, color suggestions, and instructions for embroidering.

To order this design, write your name and address on a piece of paper and send with 15 cents in coin to Needlework Department, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the last of a series of 18 articles on the Vanderbilt Club Convention.

In bidding for slams, there is usually one bid which might be called a slam invitation bid, and which might be defined as follows: "A slam invitation bid is a bid unnecessary in contracting for game, and hence is made in quest of a slam. These bids may vary in the strength of the invitation conveyed, as mild, intermediate and strong."

Some of these bids, which in some instances may not be slam invitations, are:

1. Taking a game contract to a less than game contract; not always an unnecessary bid.

South	North
1 heart	2 no trump
3 hearts	3 no trump
4 diamonds

Here four diamonds is an unnecessary bid, and a mild slam invitation, based largely on distribution.

In this bidding, however:

South	North
Pass	1 club
1 diamond	3 no trump
4 diamonds

the last bid is perhaps a necessary bid, based on a long weak diamond suit and but little outside strength. When in doubt, consider any bid as necessary.

2. Taking a game contract to a higher game contract, not always an unnecessary bid.

South one heart, North four hearts, South five diamonds. Here the bid of five diamonds is clearly an unnecessary bid and thus becomes an intermediate slam invitation based largely on distribution.

3. A non-jump overbid in the suit bid by opponents; not always an unnecessary bid.

South bids 1 club; West, pass; North, 1 heart; East, 1 spade; then the bidding proceeds in order; 2 clubs, pass; 2 diamonds, pass; 3 diamonds, pass, 3 spades.

Here the bid of North is an unnecessary bid because a game has already been forced by the positive response, North issues a strong invitation for an ultimate slam bid by the partnership.

However should the bidding go: South, pass; West 1 diamond; North, 2 diamonds, this is not an unnecessary bid, but is simply a request for South to show his best suit.

4. A game assist after making a game forcing overbid of partner's original one bid in a suit (other than 1 club).

South	North
1 heart	2 spades
3 clubs	4 hearts

Here the four heart bid is unnecessary, since the first round force obligates a game contract. This is an intermediate slam invitation.

Other slam invitations include:

5. A three no trump bid over partner's one bid in a suit (other than one-club). This is an unnecessary bid since two no trump would have been game forcing. An intermediate slam try.

6. A free (not forced by opponents) game overbid. This is a strong slam invitation unless made as a shut-out bid when there is a partial score.

In actual practice slam bidding is natural. Missing aces are shown by bidding that suit, after the trump suit has been determined. For example:

South	North
1 club	1 spade
3 spades	4 clubs or 4 diamonds

shows the ace of that suit

Equally all the missing aces may be shown by jump bids in no trump, and by bidding the suit shown by opponents. For example:

South	North
1 diamond	2 spades
3 spades	4 no trump

shows the ace of clubs and the ace of hearts, but not necessarily the spade ace.

Home Service

Good Times Ahead For Girls With Manners

Make Right Start Socially

Many a girl will receive her first really grown-up invitation during the holidays. Maybe it's a formal for the college crowd—or a theatre or restaurant party.

And the girl who knows her etiquette steps out like an experienced party-goer. No awkward giggles when her partner thanks her for a dance. She replies "I enjoyed it too."

As one of a theatre foursome, she doesn't hesitate or fumble when taking her seat. She knows one of the boys goes first into the row, then the two girls, then the other boy.

At a restaurant she may check her wrap if she prefers. Otherwise she unfastens it after seating herself, lets it fall over the back of her chair.

And even her first time as hostess, a well-mannered girl makes a charming impression. She presents both girls and young men to her mother, but presents her father to the girls.

Be sure of yourself on all occasions. Our 32-page booklet tells a girl how to be a popular guest, a charming hostess; how to act with poise in theatres, hotels. Advises on the petting question. Has many rules for the man, too.

Send 15c in coin for your copy of Etiquette for Young Moderns to The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Pearl Latest Powder Effect For Evenings

By ALICIA HART

Smart salons are featuring new shades of evening makeup for gala holiday parties. This is the time to get the cosmetics as well as the clothes you intend to wear to Christmas dances.

One evening powder, blended from lighter-than-skin tones and sprinkled through with delicate mists of mauve, green and apricot, seems to give the complexion a new translucence, a pearly-soft finish.

After regular face powder has been used in the proper manner, this evening powder is to be dusted lightly over face, throat and shoulders and the surplus whisked away with a fine camel's hair brush.

Rouge may be vivid or pastel, depending on your own gown. In either case, however, you're likely to find a pure red or a red that is slightly on the bluish side more satisfactory than a yellow-red. Experts agree that yellow-reds wash out under artificial lighting.

PASTEL GOWNS NEED SUBTLE MAKEUP

With pastel gowns (they're becoming more important by the minute), delicate, subtle makeup is in order, of course. Ultra-vivid effects contrast too sharply with the light shades of the dresses. Save bright rouge and lipstick and powder with warm undertones for the evenings when you wear red or black or white.

In any event, use eye makeup sparingly. Practice until you can apply mascara without creating a beady or blotchy effect. Choose eye shadow according to the color of your eyes.

At a recent fashion showing of fabulous jewels, one beautiful, dark-haired society girl who modelled an enormous diamond wore blue eye shadow on her lids. The tips of her lashes were tinted with blue and on her lips was jewel-red lipstick with underlying tones of blue. Her nail polish matched the lipstick.

SNAKES DO NOT STAY AROUND THEIR DEAD MATES
12-4

Another of the many superstitious beliefs about snakes is the one about the surviving mate seeking out the body of the dead mate and staying near it until the opportunity comes to avenge the death of the dead partner. As far as can be learned, there is little attachment between mated snakes, and if one is killed the other goes on his way as though nothing had happened. They are actually not the least bit sentimental about one another. They are cold-blooded, both literally and figuratively.

The shamrock is supposed to have become the national emblem of Ireland from the belief that St. Patrick made use of it to illustrate the doctrine of the Trinity.

Raising A Family

Should sensitive children be:
A. Protected?
B. Sympathized with?
C. Taught to forget themselves?
D. Have their days made so pleasant they won't suffer?

O. R. Barton

It is very usual to hear a mother say, "My Annie is so sensitive that she can't stand a cross word."

Few people can stand it, but all have to take it, for criticism is part of life. The odd thing about it is that so many parents think their own offspring are especially tender. If they only knew the truth, their children have an awful lot of company.

Take Bill, or Annie, or Mark or May; any child at all supposed to be spun extra fine and therefore too easily bruised. Things in their home run in very smooth channels. The day is arranged so they have very few worries. But out in the open where anything can happen, at school, on the lot, in the club, at the party, the whole array of exposures that the average child is subject to, he won't be so accommodated. There will always be a fair sprinkling of hardier children to hurt our own precious ones.

What are we going to do? Keep them away, wrap them in cotton wool, sympathize and tell them the world isn't fair, weep with them and over them?

Even if we tried to do all this, there would be plenty of slips. Our boy or girl can't be protected forever. And more sympathy will render him still more "sensitive."

HE LIKES TO KNOW YOU THINK OF HIM

I have reached the conclusion that unless experience is simply too cruel and entirely too unfair the best training this tender lamb can have is to learn self defense. He should be told that what others do to him is not as important as the way he takes it.

He is not made of true hero stuff unless he can bear it and forget it, have his feelings tramped on and then proceed to get very busy on something else and put the matter out of his mind.

No man is bigger than the things that hurt him. If he can learn to take it and keep his courage, then he has licked life. "C" is my answer.

STOCKING SERVICE

Women spend a fair-sized percentage of their clothes allowance on silk stockings. To be sure that you spend no more than is absolutely necessary it's important to select the right size and weight. For usual street wear a three-thread hose is most satisfactory, four-thread for heavier wear and two-thread for evening. Select the leg size and length correct for your build. It's economical, too, to buy no less than three pair of the same color and weight at a time and to wash hose after each wearing in a mild suds, rinsing and drying carefully.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

Every girl in the world wants to marry. Every girl intends to marry, for no matter what other career she fits herself for or whatever other ambitions she entertains, she expects to add to them a husband, a home and children. Such being the case, it is amazing that she goes about trying to achieve her heart's desire in such a blundering, haphazard, amateurish manner.

Apparently even the hard-boiled modern girl still believes that marriages are made in heaven and that some good angel will drop a desirable husband at her feet. Whereas the contrary is true. In marriage the Lord helps those who help themselves.

All of this is common knowledge that every woman possesses, yet the woods are full of old maids who lost their chances of getting good husbands by being so enamoured of men who couldn't marry them that they missed the ones who could. A common illustration of this is the girl who plays around with married men.

Also, the middle-aged married man has more money to spend on her than has the chap who is just getting started in business. So when the time comes when she feels that she would like to marry and settle down she finds that it is too late, she has missed her train.

Then there are the girls who make the mistake of promising to be faithful and true to their sweethearts who are starting off to college or to seek their fortunes in some big city. It is hard on the girl, for she is still Miss Sally clerking in the notion store, who might have been Mrs. Banker riding in her own limousine.

And worst of all the handicaps with which girls weight themselves down in the matrimonial race is the "keeping company" custom, which has been aptly described as living in a state of suspended animation. For in it a girl is neither bond nor free.

All of which shows that the girl who wants to marry must regard marriage from a business as well as a sentimental standpoint. She must look into the investment into which she is going to put her whole life and see if it rests on a solid foundation or hot air.

DOROTHY DIX.

FURNITURE FOR SMALL ROOMS

Apartment living has created the need for special furniture—graceful pieces that serve adequately yet contribute charm. One table, a fine reproduction of a dignified antique, measures only 20 inches deep, closed, but when all four additional leaves are inserted, extends to seven feet, seating 10 persons. For the one-room apartment which must be both living and bedroom is designed a handsome mahogany chest that actually becomes, when opened, a single bed with comfortable innerspring mattress.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—Trailing the New York board, Toronto stock market drifted downward today in comparatively quiet trading. Mining and industrial indices were off at the close. Preston's dividend announcement failed to bring buying in volume and it closed down a few cents around 2.11. Volume was about 350,000 shares.

Foods and utilities developed moderate strength in the afternoon session while Steels, Papers, Building, implement and miscelleaueous shares continued on the soft side. Senior oils showed practically no change for the day.

A new low for seven years was recorded by Lake Shore at 26¾ and declines of 3 to 8 cents appeared among the cheaper golds for O'Brien, Cariboo, Preston and Perron. The market was a bit soft for the penny issues.

Royalite advanced a point to 35 while the cheaper western oils were moderately strong. Okalta, Calgary-Edmonton and Home Oil gained 2 to 5 cents and Davies, Foundation and Calmont weakened a cent. South West Pete closed higher. Texas-Canadian advanced about 9 cents to 80 in active buying and chemical Research firmed about 25 cents.

Montreal and Toronto

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—Stocks turned lower in late trading on the market today but dealings were light. Losses ranged from fractions to a point.

Rails, Constructions, Metals and Papers all showed declines. United Steel gave up a point while fractional setbacks came out for Alboma Steel, Foundation Company, Canadian Car common and preferred, C.P.R., Dosco, Nickel, Hudson Bay Mining, Price Brothers and Bathurst.

Utilities and a few miscellaneous stocks held firm. B.C. Power, Asbestos and Smelters strengthened a little which Brazilian, Bell Telephone, Montreal Power, Shawinigan, Lake of the Woods, Building Products and Hollinger remained unchanged. Oils were steady.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Downward tendencies generally prevailed in today's stock market.

The list tried fo ra rally at the start, but failed. Without being subjected to much pressure, leaders dipped fractions to around 2 points at the worst. Extreme declines, however, were subsequently reduced. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

On the offside the greater part of the time were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Sperry, General Electric, Lockheed, Santa Fee, American Can., J. I. Case and Texas Corp. •Resistant were Loft, Electric Boat, Sears Roebuck and Consolidated Edison.

Broomhall

The Argentine markets continued the advance on Saturday. After Friday holiday wheat gained a further 2 cents, and the new crop is now quoted at 66 cents, or 8.10 pesos, delivery at Buenos Aires early in the new year. The minimum price last year was 7.00 pesos, when a very large yield was gathered and the government has to support the market, being left with some 75,000,000 old wheat on which there appears to be a comfortable profit, sufficient perhaps to wipe out the heavy deficit of the 1939 season. This old crop wheat is to be sold to the local millers next year and will not be exported. The new wheat surplus is reckoned at only 110,000,000, of which only 30,000,0 will be available to Europe. Harvest operations are extending and yields are still disappointing. The Argentine government estimated remaining surplus Saturday was as follows: Corn 25,591,000, linseed 1,535,000, wheat not shown.

Canada's Export Trade Advances During November

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — Canada's commodity export trade during the third month of the war continued the advancing tendency which has been a feature of the foreign trade since the start of 1939, the Dominion bureau of statistics said Saturday.

The value of November exports totalled $97,238,850 compared with $85,979,453 in November, 1938. The total for the first 11 months of this year advanced to $823,930,256 from $768,696,252 in the corresponding period last year.

Alberta Oils

CALGARY, Dec. 11.—Trading was dull, changes narrow, with slightly lower price trend on Calgary stock exchange today. Transfers totalled only 8,200 shares.

Prairie dropped ⅛ to 18½ and Madison lost ⅛ to 2⅞. Vulcan was two down and Highwood ⅛ in odd-lot transactions.

U. S. RUBBER CO. PURCHASES FISK FIRM'S HOLDINGS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—Directors of the Fisk Rubber Corporation announced Sunday they had accepted an offer of the United States Rubber Company to buy their firm at a price in excess of $11,000,000.

The offer will be sumitted to Fisk's approximately 475,000 stockholders today.

The announcement said the agreement provided for purchase of preferred stock at $110 a share and common stock at $6.75 cash plus one-fourth share of United States common. The common stock offer was equivalent to about $17 a share, based on United States Rubber's closing quotation Saturday of $41. Fisk's closing price on the New York curb was 15¼ a common share. The preferred closed at $105.75.

The Bulletin's New Story 'Maybe Next Christmas'

By ANNE MARY LAWLOR

CHAPTER ONE

"NOW let me get this straight," Ma Shannon's voice was brisk and businesslike. "This is my last Christmas?"

Young Dr. Monroe reddened with embarrassment. "I'm not doing this at all well," he hesitated, "but—"

"Save that bedside manner of yours for the younger women," Ma snapped. "I want the truth."

John Monroe tapped the shabby desk top with nervous fingers. "Well," he said, reluctantly, "you were a doctor's wife. You understand about these things."

"Yes or no?" Ma was relentless.

"Yes."

Relief and concern sat heavily on the doctor's face. "That heart of yours—you've known for years even before the Big Doc died you knew that——"

"That it wouldn't last forever. I'm 65.. Got to die. some. time. The question is—how long have I got?"

"If you take care of yourself, six months at most."

"I see. And if I don't—sooner?"

John Monroe nodded unhappily. "If—only somebody else could have told you, Ma. I—it's as if——"

"But this is definitely my last Christmas?"

"Yes, Ma."

She sighed heavily, rose to her feet. "I—thought as much. Thank you, Johnny."

He fumbled in his desk for a pad, scribbling a few characters. "Now, this prescription——"

"I should waste my money on prescriptions!" Her laugh was suddenly young and careless.

"You'll tell the children right away, of course?"

"I don't think so. Not—for a while yet. I'll have them all home for Christmas, then maybe when they go back—I'll write and tell them. It wouldn't do to spoil their Christmas."

The door closed gently and with finality.

MOUNTAIN CREEK was meeting Christmas more than halfway. Narrow streets were heavily draped with loops of laurel. Evergreens blossomed with gay-colored lights. Windows were lavish with scarlet and green, and sleigh bells jangled against the nostalgic sweetness of yuletide carols.

Ma Shannon plodded through the crowds, a little dumpy figure in her ancient hat and unfashionable coat. A loud-speaker at Holton's department store blared "Silent Night" against the unseasonably warm De-

Through The Mill

It was easy to tell which one was the complainant. Besides a beard he wore several beautifully colored bruises on the left side of his pan. The other lug that was supposed to have swatted the guy trotted into the prisoner's dock and tried not to grin—but without much success. He said "Nope!" when they asked him if he pleaded guilty or not guilty.

The guy says that the accused called him a dirty name and then slugged him with a board. "Nope. He came for me with a bottle and I slugged him with my fist, then he grabbed the board and he bumped himself on it while I was trying to take it away from him," explained the accused.

A couple of witnesses who didn't seem to have seen very much didn't make it any easier for the cadi. Finally, the magistrate decided there wasn't evidence enough to justify a conviction. But obviously somebdy had slugged the guy and the defendant looked as though he could have done it. So the magistrate bawled him out and then dismissed him.

Post Office Has Light Business For Christmas

Largely due to a decided decrease in the amount of mail sent to Europe since the outbreak of the war, activity at the Edmonton post office is considerably below normal for the pre-Christmas season. Officials believe that another factor contributing to the slackening in the normal Christmas rush is due to the unseasonable weather. Edmontonians just can't seem to get used to the idea that Christmas is only a few days away.

Officials revealed that due to the uncertainty of sailings from Atlantic coast ports, it is now too late to mail Christmas parcels and ordinary letter mail to points in Europe. Mail sent via air, however, will still reach the Old Country in time for the Yuletide season.

Prof. C. S. Burgess, professor of architecture at the University of Alberta, will address the Philosophical Society Wednesday night on "Cities and City Planning."

Thomas Ferrier, superintendent of the Edmonton street railway system, addressed the Kiwanis club Monday at the Macdonald hotel on "Problems of Civic Transportation."

His Honor Judge J. D. Matheson returned Saturday from an official trip through the Peace River country. During his tour he held sessions of the district court at Grande Prairie, Peace River and McLennan.

Burial rites were held Monday afternoon from Howard and McBride's chapel for John L. Wilson, 93, who died here Friday. Rev. A. F. March was in charge of the service and interment was made in the Edmonton cemetery.

Appeal of Harold W. Young, Edmonton, against conviction by Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated was dismissed by His Honor Judge J. L. Crawford in district court Monday. The court reserved decision on sentence.

Alberta can expect a large increase in tourist travel next year and plans should now be laid to augment that increase by methods of concerted publicity, D. E. C. Campbell, director of publicity for the provincial government, said Monday in addressing the Optimist club.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Katherine Singer of 9623 110 avenue, widow of the late Michael Singer, who died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Henning, 9526 110 avenue, Wednesday at the age of 85 years. Services were held from St. Peter's Lutheran church. Howard and McBride were in charge of arrangements.

Five signallers of the 92nd Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, have returned here after taking a signalling course at Kingston, Ont., according to Lieut. C. R. Compston, of that unit. The men left here several weeks ago and after completing their course, they have returned to continue service with the Edmonton Garrison.

Miss Alice Stewart-Irvine., 11310 89 street, phone 72250, has been appointed secretary to T. Chivers, 10070 90 avenue, phone 32688, Northern Alberta representative of the Royal Life Saving Society. Any information on Royal Life Saving instruction can be obtained from either official or from Miss Willcocks, swimming supervisor, Y. W. C. A.

Premier Aberhart was back at his office Monday after spending the weekend at Calgary, where he addressed the Prophetic Bible Institute

Speaking on the subject, "Hit or Miss," A. E. Ottewell, Registrar of the University of Alberta, addressed the general monthly meeting of the British Imperial Comrades Association held in the association's headquarters, 10021 102 avenue, last week. Chairman of the meeting was G. Wilce. A discussion followed the address.

Announcement was made Monday by Premier Aberhart of the appointment of J. H. Charman, Calgary solicitor, as acting-sheriff and acting-clerk of the supreme court of the Calgary district. This appointment has been made in the absence on active service of V. R. Jones, who holds both appointments. Mr. Charman's appointment is temporary.

On his way east, Capt. C. W. Meath of Ottawa, assistant director of Employment Service offices throughout the Dominion, conferred here Monday with local officials. Capt. Meath described his visit and conversations as being "routine." He was met by Mark W. Robertson, general superintendent of Alberta offices. During the day they visited the Edmonton office and discussed various matters with W. G. Patterson, superintendent of the office. Capt. Meath is leaving Monday night for the east.

Resident of the city for the past 36 years, Charles Louis Wittmann of 10703 126 street died here over the weekend at the age of 90 years. He was formerly engaged in the fur business. He was a member of the Masonic Order. Mr. Wittman is survived by his wife, one son, A. C. Wittman of Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Galbraith of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs A. Oddy, also of Portland; and eight grandchildren and one great granchild. Funeral services will be held from Connelly and McKinley's chapel at 2 p.m. Wednesday with entombment being made in the Edmonton Mausoleum.

A pioneer resident of the city and a well-known tailor here, Dmitro Proniuk of 9540 104 avenue, died in Edmonton Monday at the age of 47 years. Hrycyna will officiate, assisted by Rev. M. Fyk of Radway, and Rev. H. D. Wasyliw of Smoky Lake. Mr. Proniuk is survived by his wife and two nephews, Daniel and Fred Proniuk,

TRUST MONEY FOR C.O.T.C. APPORTIONED

Administrating Committee Holds Annual Meet At University

Annual meeting of the administrating committee of the Strathcona Trust Fund was held at the University of Alberta Saturday and plans for 1940 activities were discussed.

Many years ago the late Lord Strathcona left about $125,000 in trust for development of physical training in Canada and the interest therefrom is apportioned to the different provinces. Alberta's share is about $1,500 a year.

SIX ON COMMITTEE

The Alberta committee consists of six—three civilians and three appointed by the national defence department of the Dominion, which administers the entire fund.

The committee has been under the chairmanship of Brig. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C. Others on the committee are Lt. Col. Green, Calgary, substituting for Brig. Pearkes; Lt.-Col. D. L. Cunnington, Calgary; Capt. J. H. Towerton, Edmonton; Dr. H. C. Newland, supervisor of provincial schools; H. E. Balfour, senior high school inspector; R. McKillip, Lethbridge, physical training director; and F. G. Buchanan, Calgary schools supervisor.

ALLOCATION

Allocation of money from the fund is made for encouragement of physical and military training, cadet services, musketry and other forms of physical development.

Dr. G. Fred McNally, deputy minister of education, is an ex-officio member of the committee. Capt. R. E. A. Morton, Calgary, who has been secretary of the committee, has resigned owing to active service duties and Lt. John F. Bingham, Calgary, has been appointed as his successor.

Joseph J. Birch, City Musician, Dies At Age 72

Prominent in musical circles in the city for many years, Joseph John Birch, of 7940 79 avenue died in Edmonton Saturday at the age of 72 years. He had been a resident of the city since 1912, coming here from Birmingham, Eng.

Prior to coming to Canada, Mr. Birch was church organist in one of the leading Birmingham churches for 26 years. He was church organist at St. Luke's church in Bonnie Doon for six years. He also taught music here.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Wilfred John Birch, employee of The Edmonton Bulletin. A younger son, C. E. Birch, was killed in 1917 while serving overseas with the 196th University Battalion.

Funeral services will be held from Hainstock & Son's chapel at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Rev. W. H. Hatfield officiating. Interment will be made in the Edmonton cemetery.

Ritchie Bus Said Unprofitable Move

Operation of a new bus to serve the Ritchie district would cost $12,000 a year and would lose some $7,000 a year on operation, it was reported Monday to city council by commissioners.

Commissioners point out that they are considering substitution of a bus for trams on the Bonnie Doon line and that, due to this and other improvements within the present service, they cannot recommend extensions for 1940.

both of Edmonton. Foster and McGarvey are in charge of arrangements.

Thirty-nine city employees will have reached the age of 65 or over on or before the end of this year, it was stated in a report compiled by the city comptroller and issued on Monday by city commissioners. At this age they may retire on pension. Of these just one is of the full age of 70 years, the time at which retirement from the service is compulsory. Others may be continued from year to year until they are 70, provided they are physically fit for their duties. Length of service of the employees listed varies from eight to 35 years. It is not known at the present time how many of these will be retired at the end of the year.

Seeking $15,000 general and unstated special damages supreme court action brought by Leonard George, Killam farmer, against Frank E. Brown, salesman, and Imperial Oil Ltd., opened in supreme court Monday before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives and a jury. The case arose out of an accident on the Calgary trail November 10, 1938, at a point three miles south of Ellerslie, in which Mr. George sustained injuries which have necessitated almost continuous hospital treatment. Jurymen sworn to hear the case were J. W. Wilbourn, Winterburn; G. M. Smith, Clover Bar; E. Gobeil, South Edmonton; R. M. Hulbert, South Edmonton; C. R. Frost, Edmonton, and Milton Suder, Winterburn.

Traffic Commission Is New Proposal To Make Streets Safer

Appointment of a permanent traffic commission with a full time secretary is proposed to city council in a letter from Elmer E. Roper, chairman of the advisory traffic commission.

Mr. Roper suggests that the permanent commission be composed of the city engineer, police traffic head and city solicitor, who should be instructed to gather all possible information on scientific traffic control and given authority to apply it to the city's traffic problems.

Mr. Roper states that the present traffic advisory commission cannot carry out work of this nature with any degree of efficiency, and suggests that it be disbanded. Educational work, he says, can be carried on by the new Edmonton Safety Council, the Alberta Motor Association and similar bodies.

SPEED LIMIT ISSUE

The proposal will be considered by council at tonight's meeting, when a letter also will be received from the Chamber of Commerce urging that delay and thorough study be made before a speed limit is established for cars here.

Report of the traffic advisory commission, submitted to council, recommends special patrols in areas where accidents have been most frequent and addition of two single motorcycles to the police force.

In 1927, Berlin erected a monument to a book as tribute to the bookbinding industry of that city.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

"What would you like to do today that would give you unbounded delight?"

THE ANSWERS

GORDON PRICE, clerk and musician: Nothing would give me more pleasure right now than to spit in Stalin's eye, unless it would be kicking Hitler where it would hurt most.

SALLY DUNCAN, waitress: I'd like to make a delayed parachute jump because I think the snap-report of the opening silk would make an intriguingly nice sound. It would also be nice to open an Inquiring Reporter's noggin and see what makes it work.

HARRY VINCE, telegraph messenger: I'm going to be placed on the retired list after the first of the year due to having reached the age of 20. So nothing would be nicer than having a job to go to.

BILL SCOTT, salesman: It should be devilishly good fun to take one of the new trolley-busses down the north side hill and try to make the second bend on three wheels. I guess it would be thrilling alright—more soul satisfying than accomplishing my life-long ambition of getting seven peas on one knife without the aid of mashed potatoes as mortar.

ROB CASAULT, government messenger: I would like to crawl into the cockpit of a dive-bomber and take her as high as she'd climb and then nose over into a power dive. Bet I'd leave quite a hole when I landed.

First Missionary Will Be Honored By United Church

Celebration of the centennial of the coming to Alberta of Rev. Robert T. Rundle, first Christian missionary in the province, will take place next spring.

Arrangements for the celebration were made at a meeting Friday of a committee of the Edmonton United Church Presbytery, with John Blue, Edmonton district historian, J. K. Hill, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, and Hugh Gourlay, public librarian, sitting in.

It was proposed to hold the celebration as one of the events of the Alberta United church conference meeting the last week of May, when an historical pageant, addresses in McDougall church, and an outdoor service in the old H.B.C. fort ground will be held.

Rundle, the pioneer of all missionaries, came from England in 1840 under auspices of the English Wesleyan church and at the invitation of the Hudson's Bay Company. For his field of labor he covered the territory from Lesser Slave Lake to the Bow river and from Lac Ste. Anne to Battleford.

CITY WORKERS GIVE $6,500 TO RED CROSS

Rural School and Other Country Groups Increase Wartime Fund

Contribution to the Red Cross war time fund from employees of the City of Edmonton has reached its objective of $6,500, it was stated Monday by W. J. Dick, chairman of the northern Alberta campaign. Rural schools are continuing to send in donations, $253.20 being received in the past few days and Red Cross branches in small town points also are sending new contributions.

Civic employees' donations have been pledged in the form of payroll deductions.

The donation of $6,500 is the largest contribution received from any group of employees in Edmonton.

THEY ASSISTED

A. A. Campbell, city comptroller and Thomas Walker, city assessor canvassed the superintendents; Alex Templeton, assistant assessor, and Charles Small, assistant city treasurer, canvassed the assistants to the superintendents; F. 5 WOULD KILL

By Tom Horner

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ARNOLD BENTHORNE. Five persons wished him dead.

HELEN BENTHORNE, his charming young wife.

WILLIAM ALSTON, Benthorne's father-in-law and business associate.

JOEY DI TORIO, night club owner and gangster.

ARA JOHNSON, the mystery girl.

JOHN DOUGLAS, a young mining engineer, in love with Ara.

CAPTAIN DAWSON, a detective who likes to listen.

Yesterday: Douglas tells how he entered the study, via the window, barred the door, after Benthorne's murder. Dawson, unconvinced, arrests him. Ara accuses Douglas of lying to save her, admits shooting Benthorne and di Torio. Flynn returns with the coroner's report on Benthorne. He tells Dawson he has found a cat—a big black one, over the garage.

CHAPTER XXI

"WHAT has a cat to do—?" Dawson began and then he remembered. In Benthorne's note—"The black cat that ran across the driveway tonight"—"You may have something, Flynn, Go on."

"He's a huge, yellow-eyed devil, Captain. And black as the inside of a well at midnight. Like some witch's cat. I was looking around the garage when I heard him yowling, faint-like. I had to hunt a while before I found him. Those garages have rooms over them, probably for the chauffeur, but they haven't been used. This cat was 'way back in the last one, locked in a closet.

"When I opened the door he was backed over in a corner, his yellow eyes flashing. When the light hit him he started spitting and yowling. I left him there—right where I found him. I've been trying to tell you—"

"Okay . . . , Okay . . . Get out to that garage, hide in one of the cars, and see who tries to get up to that cat." Dawson returned to Ara and Douglas.

"I'll have to put these on you," he said, snapping a handcuff over the girl's wrist and another on Douglas. "They aren't so comfortable but I warn you to stay together. The house is surrounded, so don't try to get out . . . Where are Mrs. Benthorne and her father?"

Flynn stopped at the door. "In the living room with Krone," he answered.

"Tell Krone to let them go, without their knowing it. I want them to have plenty of freedom."

Alone once more Dawson paced the floor trying to fit the pieces of the puzzle together. Starting from the beginning he tried to work all the information he had gathered into a single, logical argument.

Both Joey and Douglas had agreed upon one point: that Benthorne had recognized his murderer. Both had said they heard Benthorne say "YOU!" just before he was killed.

It was unlikely that both of them would have told the same story unless it actually had happened. There was little chance of their getting together to compare notes.

Of the five he had named in his note, there was only one whom Benthorne had never met—John Douglas. Still, Douglas might have been lying about not being able to get to see Benthorne. But if he had met him once, why should he take such a desperate chance to confront the man again?

That left Benthorne's wife, Alston, Joey and the girl. Too bad the girl knew about the cat, but it couldn't be helped, now.

Dawson returned to the desk, to glance again at the note Flynn had handed him. "Benthorne killed with a 32-calibre bullet," the patrolman had written. "Markings indicate possibility of ordinary revolver.

Joey had warned him not to forget ballistics. If he could only find that gun. Joey had carried a .38 automatic. Douglas had mentioned a .45 Colt. Being a westerner, Douglas would probably own that type of gun. A woman might own a little, light .32. She might even carry it in her purse.

Then there was the cat, Flynn's luck again. Had someone, knowing Benthorne to be superstitious, put this cat deliberately in his way? That person would have to know him well. Neither Ara nor Douglas knew that much about Benthorne—or did they?

Benthorne's note had mentioned other warnings. Dawson pulled the paper from his wallet, studied it again.

"Anonymous telephone call." That could have been any one of them, probably Douglas. "The black cat that ran across the driveway tonight. Third light on a match."

Helen Benthorne's words to Joey and to himself—just before Joey was killed—echoed in his ears. . . : "That's three on a match. I hope you aren't superstitious."

A dark figure passed the doorway, hurrying along the hall. Dawson glanced up just in time to recognize Alston's tall form and white hair. Probably going back to his room again to resume his frequently interrupted sleep. So old, so tired.

Dawson found himself wondering why the old man had not shown more pleasure over regaining control of Alston Motors. Benthorne's death had accomplished that. But Alston's only apparent concern was for sleep. He seemed to long for the peace that only sleep could bring him.

No need to worry about Alston. If he went to the garage, Flynn would be sure to see him. He might know something about the cat at that.

Dawson resumed his mental analysis. The gun! There was the clew to the whole thing. Ara had said he would find it under the mattress in Mrs. Benthorne's room. Did the girl know it was there? Dawson doubted if she had placed it there herself, but she might have discovered it in that short interval before Joey was killed.

A moment later Dawson topped the front stairway. Alston was just entering Mrs. Benthorne's room as Dawson's shout stopped him.

"Hold on, there, Mr. Alston. Don't go into that room!"

The old man turned, his hand still on the doorknob. There was a puzzled expression on his face.

"I was just returning this to Helen's closet," he explained, extending a wire hangar toward Dawson. "She let me have it to dry my coat last night,—or rather, this morning."

"That can wait," Dawson said shortly. "I want to take another look around your daughter's room." The old man's figure still barred the doorway. From the pocket of his coat, he drew a small, white box.

Alston lifted two white tablets from the box, balanced them in his hand for Dawson to see. "Two more sleeping tablets," he said. "If I don't sleep with these—" He flipped them into his mouth.

"With those two and the others you've already taken, you should sleep a week," Dawson remarked.

"I guess I'm becoming inured to them." Alston laughed tonelessly.

"But your heart. Aren't you afraid they'll have some bad effect."

"They are really perfectly harmless, Captain Dawson. But if you are concerned, I'll let you keep the box for me. Then I won't be tempted." Alston handed the box to Dawson, then walked slowly and unsteadily toward his room. "You won't disturb me, unless it's absolutely necessary, will you?" Alston asked, over his shoulder.

"No—you can sleep as long as you want to."

Alston disappeared and as the door closed behind him, Dawson threw open the door to Helen Benthorne's room.

FLYERS DRUB LEAGUE LEADERS 5-1

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Perfect Finale

Danger Signs

Flyers Thrill

NOT since the time I found a twenty-dollar bill on the street one night before my pay day have I felt so good as I have since Saturday afternoon.

I am of course duly glad that the Bombers lifted the dominion football title, but what tickles me most is the type of game that was apparently played. Now I didn't see it, but I did hear all of it over the radio and I checked my impressions with the Canadian Press play by play story and a very illuminating graph prepared on the game by Art Kramer.

If ever there was a game that should convince the east of the need of at least trying out the western rules, it was Saturday's affair in Ottawa.

I have yet to see a Western Conference game that could equal Saturday's battle for [illegible] of variety. It was two bucks and a kick, two bucks and a kick with that monotonous regularity that you generally get under eastern rules if the footing is slippery and the ball wet. There is absolutely nothing else you can do under those rules when the weather makes fancy passing too dangerous and both lines are so evenly matched that it is a stand-off.

The one hair-raising play of the game was the Ottawa forward and lateral that sent Tommy over for his touchdown. That's the sort of stuff we could use a lot more of in our western game.

However I don't expect that many citizens will agree with my angle—and certainly no one in the east. The pressure and excitement of dominion title conquest was great enough to make the spectators overlook the monotony of the play. You had to be away out here out of the hysteria to give the show a cold analysis. You had to compare the situations and solutions on the Ottawa field with similar ones you had seen in the prairie conference this season.

It seems the east went daffy over Fritzie Hanson. Any westerner will tell the east that it hasn't seen Twinkle-toes go at all. What he did Saturday would be just an average performance for him out here. Give him western rules and he'll show the east the sort of stuff that is really tops.

Saturday's final should also serve as a warning to the west to hold tight to its rules when the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union ordains that all clubs entering the dominion playdowns must play all season under the C.R.U. code in 1940.

An Equation In Power

IT seems generally agreed by all the better brains on the prairies that to win the title in the east under different rules that a western club must be 25 per cent stronger than the eastern champions. Saturday's game proved that the charging Bomber line was superior to the highly "Tanks" of the Ottawa machine. Eight Winnipeg first downs to Ottawa's three also indicates that the western ball carriers had an edge in superiority. There seems little material difference in kicking, but then neither side was trying for much except deceptive height. Owing to the condition of the field, no test of relative aerial power was possible.

Fans in Calgary, Regina and Edmonton can figure out from the above how their own clubs of 1939 would stack up against the best that the east could muster.

Vern DeGeer, sports editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail paid a glowing tribute to the Bombers in his column today, but he took particular pains to stress the fact that the game was won by a deadline kick "which the west has abolished." We still have the kick for a single point, Vern, but it is a bit more difficult than the eastern deadline kick. We make it tougher in order to discourage the ultra-conservative type of football.

Flyers Deliver the Goods

WHILE orchids are being distributed for Saturday's sport performances, you toss an armful of them on Coach Eddie O'Keefe and his Edmonton Flyers. In drubbing the Calgary Stampeders 5-1 here the team turned in a hockey performance that ought to ignite Edmonton's old fire and enthusiasm—if there is any life at all left in the body.

So far the Flyers haven't turned in a single game that hasn't been packed with fast, honest and furious action from start to finish. Saturday night they gave the fans extra measure by flashing a polish that would be eye-taking in any senior hockey circuit. It's a fighting club and its blood stirring hockey they are offering their patrons. You'll enjoy every minute of it.

This Trio Did Scoring For Bombers

Although every man in Bomber uniform played a full part in beating Ottawa Roughriders for the Dominion football championship on Saturday, it was the trio shown above who did the scoring. On the left is Andy Bieber who went over for Winnipeg's touchdown. Centre is Art Stevenson whose last-minute kick brought victory. On the right is ol' Hard-Rock Kabat whose punting gave Bombers two rouges.

Stevenson's Last Minute Kick Brings Dominion Grid Title To West Again

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—In the last breathless minute of a gridiron thriller, Winnipeg Blue Bombers won the Canadian senior football championship here Saturday when lanky Art Stevenson kicked to deadline for the deciding point and an 8-7 trimph over Ottawa Rough Riders. Nearly 15,000 fans bulged Lansdowne park stadium to watch the eastern and western titlists fight it out for the dominion crown in one of the fiercest struggles in the history of the classic.

On a frozen, slippery field, covered by a light layer of snow, the game swayed back and forth with the teams going into the fourth quarter tied, 6-6. Then Winnipeg chalked up a point with a rouge and Ottawa retaliated with a deadline kick. But it took a fumble by Riders and the dramatic moment as the last minute flag waved on the sidelines for Bombers to march that last step into the football throne room with Stevenson punting into the crowd behind the deadline.

It was a story-book finish that has scarcely an equal in gridiron history. When the final whistle blew the huge crowd rolled to its feet and gave the blue and gold team the greatest ovation ever heard at any sport spectacle in the capital. Soldiers carried Bombers off the field on their shoulders.

Winnipeg's line charged savagely for the 60 minutes, stopped the Ottawa powerhouse along the ground, took advantage of two fumbles by Orville Burke and blocked a kick to set up the scoring plays. They didn't need their vaunted forward passing attack which washed out completely with only one pass in eight completed.

Andy Bieber was Bombers' big payoff, banging over for an unconverted touchdown. Two rouges and the final deadline punt completed scoring of the prairie gridders. Andy Tommy chalked up a converted touchdown for Ottawa and a missed placement that went to deadline netted Riders their points.

Riders opened the scoring with the most spectacular play of the game when Burke tossed a 40-yard forward pass to Daley who lateralled back to Tommy and the speedy halfback sprinted 30 yards for a touchdown after shaking off two Bomber tacklers. Tiny Herman converted.

Near the end of the first period Greg Kabat punted to Burke who bobbled the pigskin on his own 10 and Lou Mogul recovered for Winnipeg. Bieber slashed the right side of the line twice and went over standing up on the second play. Kabat missed the convert.

Those two touchdowns were the foundation for a game that had everything eastern football could show on such a skiddy field, but Bombers had that extra spark in their charging line to unsteady Ottawa, take advantage of Riders' six fumbles and go on to win the Grey cup and Winnipeg's second dominion title. In 1935 Bombers defeated Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton to take the championship west for the first time.

SHELEY OUT

Wayne Sheley, Winnipeg quarterback and forward passing star, did not play. The other pre-game Bomber injury, Bud Marquardt, was the strong man of the outside wing.

Hanson spurted 40 yards halfway through the third frame and was headed for a touchdown when the play was called back. Then Tommy shook loose for 35 for Ottawa and it was called back as the officials applied the rules stringently.

Burke's fumbles sent him off the field after the game in tears but he completed three out of five passes, one for the touchdown and the other to Tremblay for a 35-yard gain which led to Ottawa tying the score 7-7.

MIGHTY HERMAN FAILS

Herman, the placement kick specialist rolled into the lineup after Tremblay was downed on Winnipeg's 19. But in a football parallel of mighty Casey at the bat, Tiny whiffed the kick that might have won the title. It drifted off the right side of the goal posts and bounced to deadline for only one point and the crowd groaned.

Twinkletoes Hanson did not get on the scoring sheet but he was the most closely watched man on the field both by the fans and the Riders. Ottawa couldn't hold him and he broke away dozens of times like his old self to help roll up Bombers' 126 yards gained rushing with eight first downs. Riders were stopped at 116 yards rushing with only three first downs.

Play-By-Play Story

FIRST QUARTER

The snow had stopped falling and there was scarcely a breath of wind when Kabat kicked off to Burke, who fumbled but who recovered to run back five yards to his 22. Sward kicked on first down to Hanson, who was stopped after a three-yard run back at his 52. Hanson's pass intended for Nicklin missed the flying wing's fingers by inches. Bieber hit the centre of the line for two yards and Kabat kicked short to Tommy, who was stopped in his tracks at the 34.

After a passing failure, Sward punted to Hanson who sprinted wide for 26 yards to the Ottawa 54. Sward intercepted Kabat's flat pass and lateralled to Daley, who was stopped short at his 49. Sward kicked to Hanson, who ran back three yards to his 43. Hanson skirted left end and reversed his field to the Winnipeg 45. Bieber slapped the centre for five yards and then the right side for three. Winnipeg was penalized 10 yards for holding and Kabat punted to Burke, who raced down the middle for 13 yards to his 48.

On the first down, Burke threw a 40-yard pass to Daley, who lateralled to Tommy and the little halfback sprinted for a touchdown. Not a hand was laid on Tommy as he ran across. Herman converted from placement.

OTTAWA 6, WINNIPEG 0

Kabat kicked off to Burke, who struggled back 12 yards to his 21. Griffin sliced off inside for a yard. Sward punted to Hanson, who ghosted 16 yards through a maze of tacklers to the Ottawa 49. Hanson lashed at the right side for five yards but Nicklin's pass on second down was yards away from any potential receiver. Kabat punted to Burke, who fumbled into Mogul's arms at the 10-yard line. He was dropped immediately. Bieber smacked the right side for three yards and then for a touchdown.

Kabat's attempt at converting from placement was wide.

OTTAWA 6, WINNIPEG 5

Herman kicked off to the goal line, from where Hanson raced back 22 yards. Nicklin failed to gain through the line and Bieber made only two before Winnipeg was set back 10 yards for holding. Kabat punted short from his two-yard line to Tommy, who fumbled but recovered at the Winnipeg 41. Daley fumbled on an extension and Gainor recovered for Winnipeg at his 38. Hanson slapped the right side for six yards and the Riders were penalized 15 yards to 54 for roughing. Hanson skirted left end on a fake pass to the Ottawa 29, cutting back beautifully into the centre. Hanson's pass was batted down as the first period ended.

First quarter over: Ottawa 6, Winnipeg 5.

SECOND QUARTER

Winnipeg was penalized 10 yards for taking too long in scrimmaging the ball. Kabat tried a 47-yard placement kick and when the ball went wide Daley was rouged.

OTTAWA 6, WINNIPEG 6

Golab knocked the left side of the line for five yards on the scrimmage from his 25, then went four more through the same spot. McWatters kicked a high ball that bounced beyond bounds at the Bombers' 47. Bieber clouted the left flank for five yards.

Behind perfect interference, Hanson clipped off six yards for a first down on the Ottawa 53. Hanson's pass was intercepted by McWatters at the Ottawa 30, where he was stopped short. O'Neil went four yards on a right end extension play.

Golab plunged for a first down to his 40 and O'Neil went five more the same way. Golab was a yard short of a first down on another rap at the line, so McWatters kicked to Hanson who merely trotted out of bounds at his 25.

Bieber sliced for three yards. McWatters intercepted Stevenson's long pass and ran back six yards to his 54. Wasworth barrelled down the middle for three yards and O'Neil picked up three more through the right side. Winnipeg was offside and the Riders took a first down at the Bombers' 45.

THROWN HARD

McWatters was thrown hard for a four-yard loss by Nicklin and needed treatment on the field before he could continue. O'Neil ploughed over snapback for 13 yards, one short of a first down and McWatters kicked to Hanson at the Winnipeg 10. Because Hanson wasn't given yards, the Bombers advanced the ball on the penalty to their 25.

Syms nailed Stevenson nine yards behind the scrimmage line on a pass attempt and Stevenson kicked to Burke, who could get back only three yards before being tackled at the Winnipeg 45. An Ottawa extension, with Daley on the end, lost four yards which McWatters immediately picked up through the middle.

Sward kicked to Hanson, who stepped out of bounds at his 25. Stevenson kicked on first down to Burke, who ran back seven yards to his 43. Golab, limping slightly, made two yards on a slap at the left side and

Calgary Club Stopped By Brilliant Defence

By JACK KELLY
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

SURE and the Clan O'Keefe is wearing a broad smile today and stepping out with a swing that would do your heart good to see. And it's the best of reasons that Coach Eddie O'Keefe and his Flyers have for a princely prance for on Saturday night here they handed the league-leading Calgary Stampeders a 5-1 drubbing with an artistry that would warm the heart of a mummy.

It was the second time that the Stampeders have been beaten in seven Senior Alberta Hockey League games this season and the most decisive set-back by far. Actually the score should have been 6-0 for the Flyers. The lone Calgary goal was pulled into the net by Goalie Robbins of the Flyers himself when he attempted to block a pass-out from behind his citadel. The Flyers scored another goal that officials disallowed through being unable to see the play clearly, but it was actually a legal tally.

As a result of their win over Calgary, the Flyers go into a tie with Lethbridge Leafs for possession of third place in the league standings.

From start to finish the game was as sweet an exhibition of hockey as the Arena has seen in many a year. There were no fights or arguments, but both clubs handed out crushing body checks and maintained a blistering pace all the way. The Flyers got all their goals the hard way and only sensational stops by Goalie Rice-Jones saved Calgary from taking a much worse drubbing.

CALGARY STOPPED COLD

Coach Eddie O'Keefe and his Flyers maintained an edge on the territorial play throughout most of the game. Their defensive power kept pace with their offensive. Behind the blue line the whizzing Calgary forwards ran into a stone wall in which Dave MacKay was the biggest block of granite. Attacks that did manage to slither around the Flyer defence were ably handled by Goalie Robbins who was back in top form. Fast, persistent back-checking by the forwards completed the defensive system that stopped the league-leaders cold.

While the Stampeders were without their brilliant play-maker, Dave Duchak, it is doubtful if his presence would have made much difference. Dave is recovering from a brain concussion.

Les Bird, Eddie O'Keefe, Eddie Shamlock, Andy Purcell and Paul Steffes scored for Flyers and Joe Shannon was credited with the lone Calgary counter which the Edmonton goaler deflected into his own net.

Edmonton went ahead midway through the first period but the gift goal put Stampeders on even terms before the period ended. Flyers added another goal in the second and then fired three more in the third.

POWER PLAYS OFF

Demarais was off for tripping when Bird opened the scoring in the first period on an Edmonton power play. Taking a long pass from O'Keefe, Bird pulled Rice-Jones out of his goal and slid the puck into the net.

Playing Coach O'Keefe put Flyers ahead again in the second while Dewar of Calgary and Haxby of Edmonton were in the penalty box. Racing down the left boards, O'Keefe went around the defence and his fast, rising shot from 25 feet out caught the outside corner.

The third period was only 48 seconds old when Shamlock snared O'Keefe's rebound off Rice-Jones' stick and with the goaler away out of his net, slid the puck into the open net.

Calgary used five forwards when Purcell was banished for interfering, but Flyers continued to dominate play and Rice-Jones pulled off several uncanny saves as Flyers continually broke away from the Stampeder power play.

PURCELL DOES IT ALONE

At the 12-minute mark Purcell broke up a Stampeder attack at the Calgary blue line, slid the puck through the defence pair and then hooked it from Rice-Jones who had come away out. Purcell fired into an open net.

A goal by "Scotty" Sutton a minute later was disallowed by Referee Pete Rule. Rice-Jones was flat on the ice trying to smother the rebound off Dave MacKay's shot when Sutton grabbed a loose puck in the crease and shoved it into the net.

Stampeders put on five forwards at the 15-minute mark but the move only seemed to disorganize their play and 2¼ minutes later Steffes made it 5-1. Purcell, steered behind the goal, passed and Steffes whacked the fast-moving puck bask into the net. Rice-Jones, screened by another Calgary player, had no chance on the play.

GOTHAM HOCKEY PIONEER IS DEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Colonel John S. Hammond, 59, one of the group that brought major league hockey to New York, died Saturday.

He was former chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden Corporation and it was he who persuaded George L. (Tex) Rickard to introduce hockey as an additional drawing card for that $7,000,000 structure.

Colonel Hammond suggested hockey because he had been to Montreal and had seen the crowds at the old Mount Royal Arena. With this in mind he negotiated for the contract that brought the first New York Americans—the old Hamilton Tigers—to the Garden. For a short time he was president of the club.

In his younger days he was an all around athlete and later was a soldier, cattle raiser, banker and oilman.

The Coliseum, famous London music hall, gave its first performance on Christmas Eve of 1904.

OTTAWA SEES GREAT NIGHT OF WHOOPEE

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Winnipeg's alert backfield stopped the last desperate Ottawa thrust and the Blue Bombers ran through the wet snow to the sidelines, to be greeted by the greatest ovation ever given a Dominion football team away from home.

The 14,000 admirers, Bomber and Rough Rider supporters, alike, stood for 10 minutes in the cold wind to cheer this great team from the west with the steam-roller line and the dancing, driving backs. The Riders added their plaudits, too, and the kids thronged around for autographs.

It went on all through the uproarious Saturday night in the capital.

WHEAT FARMERS HAPPY

Roaring wheat farmers in great fur coats and disappointed easterners, forgetting the money that had been won and lost, thronged the hotel corridors and whooped the praises of the Bombers. There were toasts to Reg Threlfall, who coached the club that beat the greatest of all Ottawa teams, and to Ross Trimble, who took his Rough Riders' defeat like just another knock along the tough football road.

Hands were shaken everywhere and Threlfall told each back-slapper of the credit that belonged to driving linemen like Martin Gainor and Mel Wilson or Fritzie Hanson or Andy Bieber, the 22-year-old Winnipeg boy who made good with a wallop for his home town.

Trimble, forced to maintain an ever-present smile as Ottawans flocked around, lauded the efficiency of Threfall's coaching.

BANQUET AND ALL

There was a banquet, with speeches, on the city of Ottawa. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and Premier John Bracken of Manitoba spoke and Prime Minister Mackenzie King sent a telegram. Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa presided and Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg got off a nice piece in his Scottish burr about the friendship of the east with the west.

Then everybody went back to roaring through the hotel.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Winnipeg Blue Bombers, new Canadian football champions, left for home last night by train and with them went most of the 400 supporters who came down from the west to see Bombers blast Ottawa Rough Riders.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 11—There were only a few minor celebrations here Saturday following Winnipeg Blue Bombers' exciting 8-7 win over Ottawa Rough Riders in the Dominion football final at Ottawa Saturday. But extensive preparations have been completed for Winnipeg to "cut loose" when the new champions return Tuesday.

It will start with a breakfast reception for players and team officials, their wives, sweethearts and relatives. A fleet of cars will be waiting to whisk them in a victory parade to a breakfast reception.

Only relatives of players will be admitted to the tracks when Bombers' train arrives here at 9 a.m. A platform is being erected in the station rotunda for the first part of the reception. Representatives of the province, Winnipeg and St. Boniface will speak in addition to players and club officials. Players will travel in the victory parade through downtown streets in two large busses, preceded by the 38-piece Sea Cadet band. The players will sit one to a seat with stickers on the windows so they can be easily identified.

Bentley, Carse Score In Rousing Chi-Hawk Win

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—In a hard fought game marked by a rousing third period which saw a near riot among players and the assessing of four major penalties and one for misconduct, Chicago Black Hawks defeated Montreal Canadiens 3-2 last night before a crowd of 15,208.

When less than three minutes of play remained, Toe Blake, handed a minor penalty for cross-checking, was assessed one for misconduct when he argued too strenuously with Referee Mickey Ion—and things started to happen.

Louis Trudel of the Canadiens and Ab. Demarco of Chicago came to blows, bringing all players to the ice. Bill McKenzie of the Hawks started trading punches with Red Goupille of Montreal—and it was several minutes before order was restored and majors handed the four combatants. While they were serving their "terms" Ray Getliffe scored for Montreal—the final goal of the game.

Doug Bentley's first period goal put Chicago ahead but Blake's shot tied the count early in the second period. Late in the stanza Bill Carse counted for Chicago on a short shot and Mush March rifled home a long one.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Chicago, Bentley (March, Thoms), 1:03. Penalties: Getliffe, March, Goupille.

Second Period: 2—Montreal, Blake (Haynes, Trudel), 11:01; 3—Chicago, Carse (Demarco, Allen), 16:17; 4—Chicago, March (Bentley, Thoms), 17:10. Penalties: Wiebe, March, Goupille.

Third Period: 5—Montreal, Getliffe (Sands, Drouin), 18:54. Penalties: Wiebe, Getliffe, Blake (Minor and misconduct), Trudel (Major), Demarco (major), Goupille (major), MacKenzie (major), Sands.

Hextall's Tally Wins for Rangers

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Bryan Hextall's third period goal gave New York Rangers a 3-2 National Hockey League victory over Boston Bruins last night and kept Bruins from going into a first place tie in the standings.

Roy Conacher shot Boston ahead after eight minutes, with the help of Mel Hill and Bill Cowley, and Hill tied the count after Kilby MacDonald's first-period goal and Alf Pike's counter that put Rangers ahead for the first time in the second period.

The Bruins were weakened early in the first period when Bobby Bauer suffered a concussion after colliding into the end boards. Frank (King) Clancy, one-time defence star, made his debut as an N.H.L. referee, and spotted the game with 14 penalties, a record for the season so far.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Boston, R. Conacher (Hill, Cowley), 8:21; 2—Rangers, MacDonald (L. Patrick, Smith), 13:45. Penalties: Watson, Hollett, Cain, Clapper.

Second Period: 3—Rangers, Pike (MacDonald, Pratt), 17:21. Penalties: Conacher, Shibicky, Heller 2, Schmidt.

Third Period: 4—Boston, Hill, (Clapper, Hollett), 4:36; 5—Rangers, Hextall (Watson, Hiller), 12:36. Penalties: Cain, L. Patrick, Hollett, Coulter, M. Patrick.

Leafs Win Before Year's Best Crowd

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Montreal Canadiens 3-0 in the National Hockey League Saturday night before 13,439, largest crowd of the year here.

Bob Davidson, Bingo Kampman and young Bill Taylor scored a goal in each of the three periods.

LINEUPS

Canadiens: Bourque; Buswell, Wentworth, Haynes, Blake, Gagnon. Subs. Drouin, Lorrain, Trudel Barry Getliffe, Mantha, Goupille, Sands, Young.

Toronto: Broda; Horner, Kampman; Chamberlain, Schriner, Chisholm. Subs: McDonald, Kelly, Apps, Drillon, Marker, Church, Heron, Taylor, Davidson.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Toronto, Davidson (Apps), 4:13. Penalties: Davidson, Horner, Haynes.

Second Period: 2—Toronto, Kampman (Chamberlain, Chisholm), 1:51. Penalties: Chisholm, Drouin, Marker, Getliffe 2, Blake (minor and misconduct).

Third Period: 3—Toronto, Taylor (Heron), 11:30. Penalties: Horner, Haynes.

Crippled Amerks Edge Out Wings

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—The crippled New York Americans, playing with only five substitutes, fought from behind last night to defeat Detroit Red Wings 3-2 in a National Hockey League game.

Charley Conacher, the 210-pound hockey star whom the Red Wings let go to the Americans at the start of the season, led his teammates to victory.

Conacher hammered in one goal and set up two more as Amerks extended Detroit's losing streak to five straight games.

Detroit counted both its goals in the first seven minutes, one by Connie Brown, rookie forward, and other by Gus Giesebrecht.

In the second period Conacher slipped through the Detroit defence on a solo dash and scored. Early in the third he set up the tying goal by passing to Tommy Anderson, who scored.

It was Conacher again as the Americans took the lead, the big fellow slipping through to within 10 feet of Goalie Tiny Thompson from where he passed to Buzz Boll, who scored.

PRISON BOWL

Wadsworth picked up seven on the same route.

Hanson fumbled Sward's long punt at the 10-yard line and as Ottawa players tried to dribble it over the goal line Bieber came up fast to fall on the ball at his two. Bieber plunged eight yards and then two more for a first down. Stevenson failed to gain around right end.

Hanson slithered over the heavy field for six yards and the flag went down. Bieber's quick recovery had saved Winnipeg from being behind at half time.

Second quarter over: Winnipeg six, Ottawa six.

THIRD QUARTER

Herman kicked off into a light breeze as the second half began and Nicklin ran back 16 yards to his 27. Hanson sneaked through the short left side for four yards and made another one around right end. Stevenson kicked short to Sward, who got back two yards to his 51 by sweeping wide. George Sprague gained two through the left and two more through the middle. Sward kicked a bounding ball that Hanson fell on at his 26. . .

Stevenson kicked to Burke, who picked up five yards on the run back to his 50. The ball went awry in the Ottawa backgield and Burke finally recovered at his 37. Sward kicked short and high to Hanson, who caught prettily and ran eight yards down the middle to his 44. Stevenson's long pass was batted down by Sward.

DIDN'T HAVE CHANCE

Bieber hit the middle for four yards but the Bombers were set back 10 for holding, so Stevenson kicked. Burke didn't have a chance for a run back from his 40. Sward knocked at the left flank for two yards and Dave Sprague hurdled it for two more. The Bombers were trying to grab the ball from the plungers and Gainer ran over the goal line after taking it from Sprague when the ball was dead. The play was called back and Sward kicked to Hanson, who ran back eight yards to his 37.

Stevenson got away the game's best punt, a spiral that Burke caught and ran back to his 35. Burke fumbled but recovered for a one-yard loss on a line smash and Tommy made two at right end. Hanson took Sward's punt at his 35 and after being tackled got up to run to the Ottawa 30, a 45-yard dash. The play was called back, the officials ruling Hanson had been stopped and the Bombers were penalized 10 yards for the way they protested the ruling.

CAUTIOUS FOOTBALL

Burke, Daley and Tommy combined for a 35-yard run back to the Winnipeg 35 after Stevenson's punt but the ball was called back to the Ottawa 46 because Daley had passed forward to Tommy.

Burke's long pass was batted down by Stevenson.

Sward kicked beyond bounds at the Winnipeg 30. Hanson made a yard on a wide run and Bieber four more the same way. Stevenson kicked to Sward, who stepped over the sideline at his 28. George Sprague made two yards at the left side and his brother Dave two more through middle just before the teams changed ends for the last time.

Third quarter over: Ottawa 6, Winnipeg 6.

FOURTH QUARTER

Winnipeg's Martin Gainor broke through to block McWatter's kick and Nicklin recovered at the Ottawa 15. Hanson made two yards at the left side and Bieber failed to gain at the right. Kabat's placement kick from the 24-yard line was about six feet wide but Trembley was pulled down just over the goal line for a rouge.

WINNIPEG 7, OTTAWA 6

On the scrimmage from his 25, O'Neil made five yards and then failed to gain. McWatters kicked a long, bounding ball to Bieber, who was forced over the sideline at his 13. Hanson hammered the left wall for three yards.

Stevenson, harassed by the charging Ottawa line, managed to kick out of bounds at his 54. McWatters sent a towering punt to Hanson at the five and Fritzie ran out 10 yards. Golab came in for the first time in the second half.

Stevenson failed to gain in a plunge and Bieber's wide sweep picked up only two yards. Stevenson kicked to Tremblay who was forced over the sideline without gain at the Winnipeg 52. Golab left the game limping badly.

Sward made two yards on an extensio and Burke passed down the middle to Tremblay who was stopped in his tracks on the Winnipeg 19. Herman made ready to come in as O'Neil plunged three. Burke carried the ball almost directly in front of the goal posts. Herman tried for a field goal from placement at the 25, but the ball was wide and to the dealine for a point.

Ottawa 7, Winnipeg 7.

On the scrimmage from his 26, Hanson passed to Nicklin who was forced out of bounds at the Winnipeg 47 after making two yards from where he caught the ball. Nicklin hit the middle for four yards but Hanson lost six on a fake pass. Stevenson kicked to Tremblay who ran back 10 yards to his 41.

HANSON SMOTHERED

Wadsworth plunged three yards and O'Neil four. Sward kicked short and Hanson was smothered without a run back at his 43. The Ottawa line massed to stop Bieber for a two yard gain and then for no gain at all. Stevenson kicked to Burke, who ran back three yards to his 37.

Sward sent the ball sky high on his next punt and Bieber was spilled by Wadsworth for a three yard run back to his 44.

Hanson was thrown for an eight yard loss on a passing attempt and needed treatment on the field before he could continue.

Bieber picked up three yards through the right side. Stevenson kicked to Burke and when he fumbled Nicklin recovered to run 10 yards to the Ottawa 33. Bieber plunged 10 yards. Stevenson kicked over the goal line and Burke returned the kick out of bounds on the eight yard line.

Stevenson kicked to the deadline on the next for a point.

Winnipeg 8, Ottawa 7.

The officials had to send for a new ball when the crowd refused to return the one Stevenson kicked. Burke passed on the scrimmage at his 25 for a 10-yard gain to Perley. Badger knocked down Burke's next pass. Sward tried an onside kick on the last play but Stevenson caught and held at his 45.

Game over: Winnipeg 8, Ottawa 7.

Turner Valley Oilers Grease Skids For Drumheller Miners By 7-2 Score

CALGARY, Dec. 11.—Paced by Chakowski and Martinson with two goals each, Turner Valley Oilers had little difficulty in defeating Drumheller Miners at Victoria Arena on Saturday evening 7-2, before about 2,000 fans.

Ettinger, Davis and Dotten each scored once while R. Bentley scored two quick goals for Miners in the closing minutes to save the team from a shutout.

Oilers had the better of the opening exchange but a penalty to Chakowski for tripping gave Miners a chance to show what they could do. They were almost trapped on the first play, breaking away, but S. Bentley got back fast to skate him off. Roche was able to handle everything that came his way until Chakowski returned.

OPENS SCORING

Ettinger took a pass from Milford to open the scoring at the ten-minute mark. Miners should have tied it up a few minutes later when a three-man rush had only one man to beat, but Ettinger outguessed Roche to save the situation.

The second period opened with a Drumheller rush but Roche was wide with his shot. Play became very ragged at this stage, but O'Brien livened things up with a fine solo rush which ended with a hard shot which just grazed the post. Oilers went on the offensive but Drumheller defence did not give the opposing attack a chance to get in a telling shot.

Miller was chased for slashing Cairns and Oilers pressed for the full two minutes but could not find an opening. Miners got a chance when Flett was penalized for tripping Miller, but their power play was no more effective than their opponents' had been.

WEARY MINERS

In the closing period, Drumheller showed signs of tiring and Chakowski increased the lead at the 1:39 mark after Cairns had made the play. Three minutes later Chakowski again scored on a two-man rush with Klein. Oilers were running wild and at the 7.03 mark a pretty three-way play by Davis, Craddock and Klein ended with the former adding the fourth counter.

Dotten made it five when he accepted a pass from Davis half way through the period. Martinson scored the sixth with Dotten getting the assist.

Reg Bentley brought the Miner fans to their feet with two quick goals in the second last minute, then Martinson ended the scoring for the evening by adding the seventh Oiler tally with twenty seconds remaining. Dotten was in on the play.

Miners welcomed the final whistle, for they appeared to be a tired but plucky lot.

Portland Bucs Shut Out Seahawks

SEATTLE, Dec. 11—Scoring twice in the final period, Portland broke a hard-fought deadlock Saturday night to defeat Seattle, 2-0, in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game here.

Neither team could find the net until Louis Holmes' pass to Aubrey Webster counted for Portland at 16:42 of the final period. A second Portland goal, by Eddie Oueiette, a minute and a half later was an anti-climax.

Nelson Defeats Trail by 4-2 Score

NELSON, B.C., Dec. 11.—Nelson Maple Leafs went bask into the leadership of the West Kootenay Senior Hockey League when they defeated Trail Smoke Eaters 4-2 here last night. Jack Mann, scoring three and Bill Snieder with one got Nelson's goals. Bunny Dame got both Trail goals.

KIMBERLEY WINS.

SPOKANE, Dec. 11—A penalty shot whipped across Goalie Joe McCool's arm by Bill Burnett late in the third period gave Dynmiters of Kimberley, B.C., a 3-2 victory over Gonzaga University Bulldogs, in a Kootenay Senior Hockey League game here last night.

Coulson's Elks Beaten By Keats' Canadians 4-1

LETHBRIDGE, Dec. 11.—Luckless Olds Elks suffered their second Alberta league defeat in as many nights when they were defeated 4-1 here Saturday night by Coleman Canadians. The game, scheduled for Coleman, was transferred here because of lack of ice in the Pass town.

Elks battled gamely for two periods and were trailing 2-1 at the end of the second heat. A pair of goals by Benny Redisky just 13 seconds apart, salted the game away for the Pass pucksters in the seventh minute of the final period.

A slim crowd of less than 1,000 watched the ragged exhibition. Elks, while they skated hard and had their share of territorial play, lacked the necessary passing attack to make them dangerous.

In addition to Redisky, Dan Sprout and Syd Sturk netted Coleman markers. "Pusie" Proulx notched the lone Olds goal.

TWO DISALLOWED

Canadians notched three goals in the initial period, but two were disallowed by Referee Clarence Campbell, one for an offside and the other because Johnny Sheppard was in the crease. Sprout put Coleman on the official score sheet, however, when he intercepted at his own blue line and soloed through to pick a corner. Laurel Harney's vision was obscured by his own players on the shot.

Shortly after the second period opened Sturk made it 2-0 for Coleman when he flashed in to convert a pass from Billy Fraser on a smart play.

Elks got that one back in 28 seconds, with Proulx tearing down the left boards to send a whistling shot past Bud Wolf from 20 feet out.

The final canto opened listlessly and for the first six minutes neither club threatened. Poor defence work by Olds paved the way for the Coleman goal. Redisky was left uncovered in front of the Olds net and had no trouble scoring when Herman Gruhn passed from a corner.

A few moments later Redisky found the rigging again when he was through on a pass from Luney.

The pair of quick goals seemed to take the fight out of Elks and the remainder of the period produced a ragged brand of hockey.

By JACK DEAKIN

SCORING when the opportunities came their way and keeping their tempers under control in the rough spots, Maple Leaf Athletic club scored a 2-1 triumph in their bitter Junior Hockey League feud against Edmonton Athletic Club at the Arena Sunday afternoon.

Fifteen penalties were handed out in the robust and rugged game. E.A.C. drew 10 of the sentences, one of them a match misconduct to Ken "Beans" Reardon for his attack against Referee Art Townsend. Another of the E.A.C. penalties was a 10-minute misconduct given to Bruce MacKay shortly after Reardon had been banished.

WILD PERIOD

A riotous third period produced the big thrills for more than 5,000 Sunday fans. It was in this session that the E.A.C. players completely lost their tempers which resulted in Reardon's fistic attempts against Referee Townsend.

Reardon's battle came during an E.A.C. power play. Collier of the Leafs had broken up such a power attack and was headed toward the E.A.C. goal with Pug Young chasing him. He was brought down by Young which resulted in a two-minute sentence. Reardon then started an argument with Townsend and evidently took a disliking to Townsend's phrases for he immediately started to pile into the official. This resulted in instant dismissal for the fiery E.A.C. rearguard.

In most cases the penalties, while deserving, were for minor infractions and were the kind that are hard to take. They represented the "bad breaks" and resulted in E.A.C's losing their tempers. However, had the clubmen continued to play hockey the result may have been different for they were continuously boring in on the Leaf goal.

Elmer Kreller repeatedly ripped through the Leaf defence only to shoot a fraction of an inch off his mark. Bruce MacKay also blistered shots within a hair's width of the pipes. And there was the instance when Shaw missed an open net.

McAULEY IS HERO

But Maple Leafs can thank Ken McAuley for their triumph. Granted McAuley didn't score the two Leaf goals, but he did save on many occasions. McAuley was always the final barrier facing E.A.C.'s and Kenny turned in one of his finest performances in the Maple Leaf cage.

Albert Newsome rolled up all of Leaf's scoring thunder. The cagey pivot sent his Leaf mates out in front in the second minute of the game. Newsome's was a solo effort an dhe finished it off smartly.

Blood started to flow a few minutes later as Haire got a gash on the face. Jack McGill scored but was ruled in the crease and the goal wiped out. With McAuley saving sensationally the Leafs maintained a 1-0 lead after the 20 minute session.

THOSE PENALTIES

Penalties held E.A.C. at bay in the early part of the second frame, but midway they applied the pressure but despite Kreller's raids, MacKay's blistering shots Leafs held tenaciously to their margin.

Newsome's backhand shot found the corner behind Kilburn in the E.A.C. cage at the three minute mark in the third and this proved the winning tally. Alex Pringle set the play up for Newsome.

It was a few minutes later that Reardon's fight took place and from then on E.A.C.'s were disorganized as the result of trips to the cooler. Shaw drilled McGill's pass for E.A.C.'s lone tally late in the period.

BARBED WIRE STRUNG OVER WEST FRONT

PARIS, Dec. 11—French military sources said Sunday an area of more than 20,500,000 square yards on the western front has been covered recently with barbed wire entanglements.

The new snares, strung over an area equivalent to a 2,500-mile belt 12 feet wide, required 65,000 tons of wire and 4,000,000 posts. Entanglements between the Maginot line and the newly-completed second defence line were included in the project.

Sir Arthur Harris, Prominent Shipping Director, Is Dead

VICTORIA, Dec. 11—Sir Arthur Ambrose Hall Harris, K.B.E., 85, of Montreal, who held important posts in the transport and shipping ministries during the first Great War, died suddenly here Saturday night. He had come here with Lady Harris and their daughter last October to spend the winter.

Sir Arthur was in the service of the old Grand Trunk Railway from 1874 to 1902 when he joined the Canadian Pacific Railway system.

RALSTON HAS WORRIES OVER WAR FINANCE

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Canada's war expenditures have brought fresh worries to Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of finance, whose task is to find the money to meet not only the constantly increasing cost of government but the extraordinary expenditures now necessary.

A ray of encouragement came last week with announcement revenues have responded to the increase in business activity and are in greater volume than at the same time a year ago.

During the past week further details were made public of the $48,000,000 worth of orders placed by the War Supply Board for equipment and necessities involved in the defence force, the overseas division and military works.

and Handsome Merchandise Awards

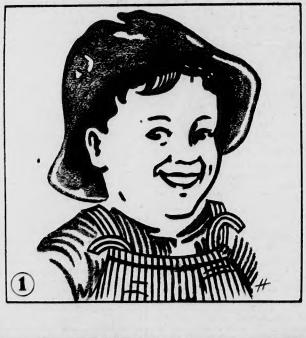
PUZZLE No. 1



(PRINT ANSWER ABOVE)

..............................Please Cut on This Line..............................

The above drawing represents an advertiser's Trade Name or Slogan. Immediately below appears a list of Trade Names and Slogans. One of them is the answer to the picture above. Now read the list and pick out the Trade Name or Slogan which seems to best describe the picture. Solved it? That's all there is to it! Simple, isn't it?

TRADE NAME	SLOGAN
Lux	"Won't Shrink Woollens"
Old Dutch Cleanser	"Chases Dirt"
Trudeau's	"We Keep The Spots"
Johnstone Walker Ltd.	"Edmonton's Own Store"
Marconi	"The Greatest Name in Radio"
Murine	"For Your Eyes"
Irving Kline	"Your Credit is Fine with Irving Kline"
Crescent Furniture	"The Store That Sets the Pace"
Punch Cigars	"Say Punch and Be Happy"
Heinz Food Products	"57 Varieties"

Union Bus Depot	"Travel By Bus"
Zeller's (Alta.) Ltd.	"Retailers to Thrifty Canadians"
Merrick Drug Stores Ltd.	"Save You Money . . . Serve You Better"

YOU CAN ALSO WIN AN EXTRA $25.00 IN CASH

The first SIX contestants winning CASH PRIZES will receive an additional $25.00 IN CASH if they are regular subscribers to The Bulletin—receiving the paper daily from the Carrier-boy or by mail.

RULES

1—This competition is open to everyone with the exception of Edmonton Bulletin employees and their families.
2—Each competitor must save the complete series of puzzle drawings (50 in all) and PRINT (not write) in the space provided for the answers. Each puzzle submitted must be an original clipped from The Edmonton Bulletin; tracings will not be accepted.
3—A contestant may only submit ONE SET OF ANSWERS. (A set consists of the puzzles numbered from 1 to 50).
4—The exact wording, punctuation, etc., of the "Trade Name" or "Slogan" used for an answer must be given as it appears in the official list or the answer will be judged incorrect.
5—Competitors must strictly follow instructions.
6—The decision of the Contest Editor in judging answers, awarding prizes, shall be final. A set of answers neatly printed by hand will be given the same consideration as a set of answers which are typewritten. Answers which are specially bound or otherwise embellished will be disqualified.
7—No correspondence can be undertaken regarding the puzzles or prizes and no information will be given over the telephone.

Germany Opens "Popular Loan" To Aid Finances

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 11.—Reports reaching here from Germany said yesterday the financial situation of the Nazi Reich has obliged the German government to decide on the issue this week of a "popular loan" from savings banks.

Depositors will be invited to turn over between 33 and 40 per cent. of their savings to the government.

NEW LOSSES REPORTED IN WAR AT SEA

Minesweeper and Five Merchant Vessels Are Sent To Bottom

LONDON, Dec. 11—Britain announced new losses in the war at sea today, including a minesweeper and five merchant ships.

The "Ray of Hope" one of many small craft pressed into minesweeping in the fight against German mines, itself was the victim of a mine. Four of the vessel's crew were killed and five were missing.

The merchant ship Willowpool, 4,815 tons, also struck a mine and sank. Her entire crew of 36 was rescued.

Four other merchant ships, an official announcement said, were long overdue and must be considered lost. They were the Ashlea, 4,222 tons; Newton Beach, 4,651 tons; Trevanion, 5,299 tons, and Huntsman, 3,196 tons.

The Ashlea, with a crew of 35, left Cape Town Sept. 28. The Trevanion with a crew of 33, was last heard from when she left Cape Town, Oct. 17. The Newton Beach was reported overdue since mid-November.

The Ray of Hope was the fifth British minesweeper lost in the war. The four previously sunk with a loss of 50 lives were the Northern Rover, Mastiff, Argonite and Washington.

TOMMIES IN ACTION

News that British troops were in action on the western front was welcomed in the press with the phrase "The war has begun at last."

Movement of the Tommies into action with the enemy occurred shortly before the King visited observation posts and inspected great Maginot line fortresses. His Majesty returned from the front last night, on the eve of the third anniversary of his accession to the throne.

NEWS WITHHELD

It was reported British troops had been on the front line several days but news of the action was withheld until the return of the King.

In the intense sea warfare, two neutral ships were sent to the bottom yesterday. The 298-ton Netherlands motorship Immingham was struck by a mine off the northern Holland coast, with the crew reported rescued; the 1,928-ton Swedish steamship Vinga sank after an explosion and the crew was saved.

BREAKS IN HALF

The 5,182-ton Belgian freighter Kabinda broke in half after going aground on Goodwin sands, and the 758-ton British vessel Fire King was reported damaged in a collision with a British freighter in the Irish Sea.

Meanwhile, reliable sources said Britain had agreed to relax a ban on the sale of war supplies abroad in order to supply Finland with materials to resist the Russian invasion.

HEAVY GERMAN PATROL ACTION ON WEST FRONT

PARIS, Dec. 11.—Heavy German patrol action on the western front, notably in the Saar region near a section of the Allied line just taken over by British troops, was reported today by military sources.

The British troops have received their baptism of artillery fire, it was announced, and are taking part with the French in patrol activity.

In the German scouting sorties, raiders at some points reached French advance posts, but French reports said they were repulsed with hand grenades.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 11.—The Belga news agency said today that Luxembourg frontier advices reported German villagers along the Sauer river had received orders to leave the zone.

The villages to be emptied, these reports said, are just across the river from the Luxembourg city of Wasserbillig, on the eastern border of Luxembourg north of the junction of the Luxembourg, German and French frontiers.

Anniversary Of Accession Passes Almost Unnoticed

LONDON, Dec. 11—Third anniversary of the King's accession to the throne passed almost unnoticed today as His Majesty devoted himself to urgent affairs of state.

The King, who only yesterday returned from a six-day visit to the British Expeditionary Force in France, held a privy council at which he approved the order-in-council forbidding disclosure of what is said at the secret parliamentary session to be held next Wednesday.

No official celebration was held to mark the anniversary of the King's accession. The customary salute of guns was not fired and was expected to be dispensed with on Thursday, the King's 44th birthday.

Prisoners Recaptured

LONDON, Dec. 11. — Three German prisoners of war were recaptured today some 30 miles from the concentration camp in eastern England, from which they escaped last Friday. A fourth member of the group was picked up yesterday.

The Bulletin's New Story 'Maybe Next Christmas'

cember air. The Salvation Army Santa Claus, woefully peaked and thin, tinkled his charitable bell.

The carols, the busy chatter of the crowds, the sleigh bells all united in a steady beating, "Last Christmas — last Christmas — last Christmas!"

Two more weeks—so many things yet to be done, so little time left for the doing. Ma straightened her ridiculous hat with determined hands, smiled at the hurried young couple who had jostled her, and turned firmly into Davis' General Emporium and Postoffice.

Dan Davis was behind the counter. Ma was suddenly filled with a fierce delight. Maggie Davis was a babbling busybody. Ma could not have borne her acid cheerfulness today. But Dan was her pet and her boy.

His smile wrinkled a million large freckles. "Hello, young lady," he hailed. "Doing your Christmas shoplifting?"

"I've been walked on by every man, woman and child in Mountain Creek," Ma complained.

"Serves you right for not doing your shopping early."

MA IS INDIGNANT

"You'd box my ears if I said that."

"Of course I would!" Ma grew indignant. "I don't mind admitting my faults, but I hate to hear others talk about 'em. How's your mother?"

Dan grinned. "Up at Aunt Millie's for the afternoon. Swapping scandal. Aunt Millie has a way of finding out what people are going to do before they know themselves. And Mom's no slouch either, when it comes to that."

"Your mother gets around," Ma agreed. "How about some 3-cent stamps?"

"Sounds——" the young voice faltered, "sounds as if you were going to write some letters. Give her my love."

"Sally?"

For a sharp second the boy's heart stook naked in his eyes. "Who else but Sally?"

Ma pawed in her shabby purse, avoiding the vulnerable young face. "Oh, a handsome young feller like you——"

"Sure, me and Robert Taylor. How is Sally, Ma?"

"Don't you ever hear from her yourself?"

"Oh, now and then." The voice was careless, but Ma knew a lie when she heard one. She leaned across the battered counter.

"I'm having the young ones home for Christmas," she confided. "Now, maybe if you was to come sashayin' up to the house, by accident——"

"It's a date," the boy grinned. "Did anybody ever tell you, Ma, how much you look like Santa Claus?"

Ma giggled. "It must be the long, white beard."

THE letters to her children must be very carefully composed, Ma decided. Just the right amount of lightness—but not too light. They might suspect. Particularly Lydia. Lydia was sharp.

The letter to Lydia first, then. Ma gripped the pen in her work-battered fingers. "You're better at scrubbing floors than writing letters," she informed them.

"Dear Lydia——" the pen spattered. Ma careful mopped up the splashed ink. How could she tell Lydia without having her oldest daughter suspect that all was not well at home?

Lydia was in New York. She was 35, sleek, sophisticated, ambitious. She had studied nursing, grasped stenography and typing and learned to speak two languages in an appallingly short period of time. Now she was secretary-nurse-companion at a fabulous salary, to a wealthy invalid. Lydia had done well for herself. There were trips to Europe, little sojourns in Florida, meanderings over the continent.

Ma relentlessly drove her pen to lofty flights of rhetoric. "How have you been? It's been pretty warm here for December, but all the local weather prophets are promising a blizzard soon."

Ma frowned. The letter was getting nowhere, so she briskly attacked it from a new angle.

"I am inviting all the children home for Christmas. Christmases get rather precious at my age." No. Ma scratched out the last sentence. Lydia would fathom its wistful transparency.

ASKING A LOT

"I know it's asking a good deal to expect you to come all the way from New York just for a few days, but"—Ma chewed the penholder viciously, "but—Christmas is for family get-togethers, and we've all been separated too long. Take care of yourself and let me know when to expect you. Love, Mother."

Ma reread the letter approvingly. "Brief and to the point," she nodded. Lydia hated wasted words, wasted affection, wasted anything. Ma sighed for such stream-lined efficiency, then turned to her second letter.

"Dear Dr. Shannon"—that should please Kenneth, she thought to herself, a trifle maliciously. Kenneth was something of a stuffed shirt about titles. Odd that she and gentle Christopher Shannon should have produced two such austere and correct children as Lydia and Kenneth.

"I think you've been working too hard. Your letters sound cross and grumpy. I prescribe a good, old-fashioned Christmas with all the trimmings. Mountain Creek still brags about you. Why not give us a treat? Besides, there'll be roast turkey with chestnut dressing."

Ma smiled to herself. That was sheer bribery.

"I am writing all the other children and it will be just like the old days again. Don't say you're too busy. Even doctors have to stop now and then. Love to Phyllis and kiss the baby for me. Mother."

Ma sighed. Surely there was nothing in the crisp, scribbled note that would betray her sudden spasm of fear and terror. Suppose—suppose they came too late?

Kenneth was the successful Shannon. He had inherited his father's deft fingers and observant eyes. It was as natural that he would turn to medicine as rivers turn toward the sea. Ma remembered how thin his lips had grown, now his voice had clipped his words with chill steel.

"I'm not throwing myself away on a dump like Mountain Creek the way Dad did," he had announced. "No horse and buggy for me. No, nor calls at midnight to deliver children to people who haven't paid for the last litter. If Dad had collected a quarter of his fees we could all retire and live on the income."

That had been true enough, Ma was forced to admit. Christopher had been all doctor. There was no muddying strain of commercialism in his nature. Perhaps if he had been less philanthropic it might have been easier to rear and educate the children after he had gone.

Her mind slid lightly over the gruelling years of work and worry and financial stress. It had been worth every effort, even though that effort left her worn and old before her time, with a trembling heart as irregular in its moods and tenses as the fluttering of leaves on the aspen tree outside.

Kenneth had gone to Chicago. His assured manner and classic profile had neatly supplemented a natural talent for medicine. And his marriage to the socially prominent daughter of the head of Chicago's Central Clinic had not hampered his progress.

MORE FREQUENTLY

Already the name of Dr. Kenneth Shannon was creeping more frequently into the society columns, into the public consciousness. No horse and buggy for Kenneth, nor midnight calls to mountain shacks overrun with children.

Kenneth was a neurologist. A brisk nurse answered his telephone. A sleek secretary punctiliously mailed out his monthly statements. His office was the Mecca of the socially prominent. His wife entertained lavishly and his one child was a preciously guarded little hothouse blossom.

Kennth at 39 was wealthy, successful, assured. Ma was a trifle in awe of her firstborn. She turned hastily to her third letter.

"Dear Robert: I am expecting you home for Christmas." No delicate prelude to her younger son's letter. Robert was a writer, the least aggressive of the Shannons. Ma suspected there were many days when Robert's meals were something short of lavish, when his socks were undarned and his suits unpressed. Robert had migrated to Baltimore and entombed himself in a boarding house to write the great American novel.

LIKE OLD TIMES

"I am sending you a little money. I know I have no right to ask you to make the trip at your own expense. Baltimore to Mountain Creek is a long way. I have written all the children to come home. It will be like old times."

Ma clutched the pen with unsteady fingers. Ah, the sharp stabbing pain in her breast! It beat a steady rhythm in her blood: "Last Christmas — last Christmas — last Christmas——"

"Bring your novel home with you. I want you to read it to me. I am so proud of you and know it will be a great success." Flattery, gross and heavy, but the weak must be flattered and petted and cajoled. "I read the poem in the little magazine you sent me. It was lovely. If only your father were alive to see it. Most of Mountain Creek asks for you. Nothing much new. I am knitting you a nice warm sweater—blue—you always liked blue. Love, Mother."

Ma's breath labored in short panting gasps. She was tired. The nagging pain gave her no rest. But there was still one more letter to be written. She dipped the pen into the chipped inkwell and carefully traced:

GAY AND FRIVOLOUS

"Dear Sally:" Sllya's letter must be gay and frivolous and inconsequential. Ma felt anything but gay and frivolous. "Come home. All is forgiven. What has Hollywood to offer that Mountain Creek can't beat? Besides, we're having a Christmas turkey with chestnut stuffing. And giblett gravy. And hot mince pie with hard sauce. From what I read in the magazines nobody in Hollywood eats anything but sawdust and skim milk. But I still make Christmas cookies the way I used to and the nail where you always hung your stocking is still over the fireplace. I've written Lydia and Robert and Kenneth and it ought to be a regular family reunion. I saw the picture with you in. Dan Davis took me. We had to sit through it twice because we missed you the first time. It was sort of hard picking you out in that mob scene, but you looked beautiful. I will be looking forward to an old-fashioned family Christmas. Your father always said—" Ma brushed away a sheepish tear— "that Christmas was invented so people who loved each other could be together. Dad sends his love. So do I. Mummy."

The pen rebelled inkily at the old familiar nickname. If Kenneth was the most successful Shannon, and Lydia the cleverest, and Robert the weakest, Sally was the dearest and most beloved.

Pretty, petted, spoiled Sally, with her candid blue eyes and her riotous blonde curls and her overweening ambition to be an actress.

"She can't act worth a penny," was Ma's inward comment, recalling a succession of high school plays. "But she's so easy to look at. Maybe that's all Hollywood needs."

She stamped her letters thoughtfully. For a short while the irritating pain ceased. Ma chuckled. "Doctors are sometimes wrong," she consoled herself. "Maybe I'll fool Johnny Sawbones yet. Maybe next Christmas—" but she knew it was only bravado. "Maybe next Christmas—"

90 MEN WORKING ON BUILDING OF HOSPITAL WING

More than 90 men will be employed throughout the winter months on interior work on the new $250,000 wing to the General hospital, it was learned Monday. Work on this structure was rushed during the late fall, and the wing will be ready for occupancy by early spring.

Addition to the hospital will increase the bed capacity by 100, and will give the institution one of the most modern maternity hospitals in western Canada.

Other hospital extension work undertaken this summer is the $140,000 addition to the Misericordia hospital to provide a new maternity wing of 96 beds. Finishing touches to the structure are now being made and it is anticipated the building will be turned over to hospital authorities on December 15 for the official opening scheduled for December 26.

Extension to the University hospital will be ready for occupancy by December 31. A $20,000 maternity wing has been added to this hospital, and, in addition to providing seven additional maternity wards the wing has been modernized and air-conditioned.

Major construction projects for 1940 will include the $450,000 federal building to be erected opposite the Court House on 100 street. Land for this building was purchased from the city, and plans are now being studied by federal architects.

Burglars Busy Over Weekend: Petty Thefts

Burglars and petty thieves registered slight gains over the weekend, reports at police headquarters revealed here Monday.

A. R. Seiner, manager of Meatland, at 10345 96 street, reported that a thief forced his way into the shop via the coal chute and a trap door and escaped with about $10 worth of cigarettes.

H. Manning, 10141 102 street, reported the theft of a pair of skates from his auto while it was parked in front of the address over the week-end. C. K. McTavish, 10164 105 street, reported a box containing valuable business papers was stolen from his auto, while R. Robert, of Morinville, had a suit stolen from his car while it was parked in downtown Edmonton.

Prof. Burgess To Retire From Varsity At End Of This Term

Prof. C. S. Burgess, F.R.I.B.A., F.R.A.I.C., head of the dpeartment of architecture at the University, will retire at the end of the current year, leaving the post he has held for the past 17 years. The retiring professor joined the faculty of the University in 1913.

Insufficient students interested in studying architecture to warrant the continuation of the faculty has forced the University to close this branch, and Prof. Burgess' retirement resulted.

He practiced architecture and lectured at McGill University for several years before coming to Edmonton. Since 1929 he has been a member of the Edmonton Town Planning Commission, and hopes to make his membership in this body his hobby after retirement.

Barn Is Razed

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn in which machinery, tools, grease and oil were stored at 11022 92 street Sunday night. The fire was noticed shortly after 3 p.m. and was blazing well before the alarm was rung in. Firemen kept the fire from spreading to nearby structures.

CITY WORKERS GIVE $6.500 TO RED CROSS

lie, the water-works and engineers; and N. Clark, the electrical department workers.

Outside Groups Donate To Fund

Wartime fund of the Canadian Red Cross Society has been supplemented by a number of large contributions during the past few days, according to W. J. Dick, chairman of the Northern Alberta campaign committee.

Luscar Red Cross has donated an additional $587.51, to bring their total, to date, to $1,468. Other country points which have donated are Ferintosh $227.55; Athabaska, $303.76, and Coronation $500.

Employees of Campbell, Wilson and Horne have contributed $330, and Alberta Government Telephones, $460.

MORE FROM VARSITY

Contribution in the amount of $297 from the University of Alberta staff, which was acknowledged some days ago, is the contribution for one month only. Donations from the University staff will be received each month, but no pledge of donations over a period of time was submitted to the Red Cross Society committee.

Rural Schools Are Continuing Help

Rural schools in northern Alberta continue to donate funds to the Canadian Red Cross Society, an additional amount of $253.20 being received from them by the Edmonton office in the last few days.

Amounts received are only a partial list of the total contribution from the country schools as many of the rural schools were canvassed by the local Red Cross committees who submitted the funds with their own contributions.

NO CANVASS

Pupils attending the Edmonton schools are not being canvassed, stated Mr. Dick, as parents of the children are being contacted at their places of business.

Individual contributions from pupils of the rural schools have been limited to twenty-five cents per child.

Contributions from teachers and pupils of rural schools, to date, include: Spruce Grove school, $7; Coronation school, $3.10; Sion school, $4.33; Junior Red Cross, Grades 5 and 6, Jasper Place school, $4.50; Westlake school, Lindbrook, 85c; Magnolia school, $2.00; Colchester school, Edmonton S., $9.00; Waugh school, $1.25; Swea school, Calmar, $4.85; Branland school, Ludemo, $3.00; Hericon school, 2255, $1.66; Glengile school, Lake Thelma, 70c; Stockholm school Edberg, $2.00; Junior Red Cross, Boyle school, $1.50; Owl River school, $2.60; Prosperity school, Chauvin, $1.75; Jarrow school, 2450, $1.95; Meadowview school, 1712, $2.75.

FRESH MEAT LICENSE IS NEW REQUEST

Petition to city council from 54 Edmonton butchers urges that a special license be provided for sellers of fresh meat, to cost $25 and the fee not to be offset against business tax.

The petition states that "almost every grocery or corner store is handling fresh meat in a manner contrary to recognized health regulations."

The butchers argue that, unless handling of meat is properly regulated, the butchers who have installed equipment at considerable cost for this purpose will be forced out of business.

It is added that "many stores not properly equipped to handle fresh meat are using the fact that they sell merchandise which exempts them from early closing as a means of defeating not only the letter but the whole spirit of this city's closing bylaw."

Store Opens at 9:00 a.m., Closes at 6:00 p.m. Daily, Including Wednesday During December.
